Allies Ask Reds To Join Parley

Big Three Would Decide Fate of Germany and Austria

London, Sept. 2 (AP) — The Big Three Allies called on Russia today to join an early four-power conference of foreign ministers on the future of Germany and Austria.

Identical notes were sent by the United States, Britain and France suggesting the high level talks to work out:

1. Arrangements for holding free German wide elections as an essential first step toward restoring Germany unity and agreeing on a final German peace settlement.

2. Final agreement on the long promised Austrian treaty of independence which Russia has been stalling.

Proposal Rejected

Informants said the Allied notes rejected Soviet Russia's proposal to set up a provisional all-German government which would participate in a German peace conference to be held within six months. The Soviets suggested also that free German-wide elections should follow the peace conference.

The American, British and French notes made it clear that the allies believe the Soviet proposals for holding elections after a peace settlement puts the cart before the horse.

The informants said the allies proposed the ministers meet about mid-October in Switzerland. The lakeside town of Lugano near the Italian-Swiss frontier is understood to have been suggested as a meeting place.

Secretary of State Says They Could Provoke War by West

St. Louis, Sept. 2 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles solemnly warned the Communist world today that Red Chinese aggression against Korea or Indochina might provoke war by the west against China itself.

In doing so, he appeared to be laying down a new government policy of telling potential aggressors in advance where the United States will fight to protect its security.

The Chinese Communists must now realize, he said, that "they could no longer count" on the "privileged sanctuary" of Manchurian air and supply bases in the event they renew aggression against South Korea.

Training Is Cited

As for Indochina, the secretary noted in a foreign policy speech prepared for the American Legion Convention that Communist China is training, equipping and supplying Communist rebels in Indochina.

Dulles then declared:

"There is the risk that, as in Korea, Red China might send its own army into Indochina. The Chinese Communist regime should realize that such a second aggression could not occur without grave consequences which might not be confined to Indochina.

"I say this soberly in the interest of peace and in the hope of preventing another aggressor miscalculation."

Dulles told the veterans the Korean War has taught the United States "a lesson which we expect to apply in the interest of future peace." The lesson, he said, is this:

"If events are likely which will in fact lead us to fight, let us make clear our intention in advance; then we shall probably not have to fight."

Miscalculation Reported

He said many informed people think that both World War 2 and the Korean conflict came about because the aggressors miscalculated and thought that the Americans would not fight.

The Korean fighting has established, he said, "that aggressors hostile to the free world can not go on enlarging themselves by the conquest of small nations, until they become bloated with power and busy with success."

In cautioning against possible new Communist aggression against South Korea, Dulles noted that the United States and its 15 united nations allies in Korea have jointly declared that any violation of the Armistice would cause grave consequences which probably could not be confined within the frontiers of Korea.

"Since 1950," the secretary said, "the forces of aggression have been supplied, equipped, and protected by air from unmolested bases in China, just north of the Yalu (river).

If, however, the Communist desire to resume the war, they now know that they could no longer count on this privileged 'sanctuary'."

Two Wallkill Escapees Caught

Two prisoners who escaped from the Wallkill Medium Security Prison at about 1:50 p. m., yesterday, were caught in the town of Gardiner by New York water department police about three hours after they escaped.

State police and other police of the area were notified of the escape and teletype messages spread the warning over the region.

Both men were serving prison terms on grand larceny charges, the report said. Their names were given as Edward Snyder, 27, of Waverly, and Bernard Stever, 19, of Fort Plains.

The BWS police headquarters at Sherwood Corners said that the two men were caught by Sgt. Lawrence Rampe, Cpl. William Spangler, and Cpl. Angelo Marco, who were off duty and riding in the town of Gardiner near Tuthilltown.

They had just asked a boy along the road whether he had seen two men in the area, when the officers spotted them out in a field. They gave chase through the fields in the area and caught the two who were taken back to the prison.

100 U.S. GIs Come Back; Total 3,000

Germ Warfare 'Group' to Be Repatriated Soon— Ship Sails for America

Panmunjom, Sept. 2 (AP)—Another 100 happy Americans rolled through Freedom Gate today, bringing to more than 3,000 the number of U. S. soldiers freed by the Communists as the Korean war prisoners exchange neared an end.

These other developments highlighted the 29th day of Operation Big Switch:

1. A returning officer said 75 Americans who "confessed" to germ warfare charges under relentless Red pressure would be repatriated soon. He said the men, mostly officers, were at Kaesong, the Communist holding point north of Panmunjom, and all expect to be repatriated.

2. The sixth troopship carrying liberated Americans sailed for the United States from Inchon on Korea's west coast. With 440 men the transport Gen. Black is due in San Francisco about Sept. 15.

Corporal Disappears

3. An American corporal, said to be marked for death by other returning prisoners because he betrayed them to the Reds, was reported to have disappeared from a Tokyo army hospital. The soldier, identified only as "Slick," was freed three weeks ago and had been sent as a medical case to the hospital.

4. The UN command, in an unusual announcement, accused the Communists of rigging interviews between allied POWs and visiting Red Cross teams. The announcement quoted a returned Australian officer as saying the Reds told him that he would not be repatriated unless he gave "proper answers" to Red Cross workers.

Smiling and apparently in good health, 41 officers and 59 sergeants made up the 100 Americans returned Wednesday. They brought to 3,027 the number of Americans freed so far. The Reds held up delivery of the Americans until after 150 South Koreans were returned.

In all, the Communists turned back 100 Americans and 200 South Koreans Wednesday and promised to deliver Thursday 89 Americans, 200 Koreans, 5 British and 6 Canadians.

11,716 Are Freed

Including Wednesday's delivery, 11,716 allied prisoners have been freed. Before the exchange started, the Reds said they held 12,782 POWs, but have since indicated they would return more than that number. They said these would include an undisclosed number of men captured in the last days of the war.

According to the original Red figure, 286 Americans are yet to be returned, but this number probably will be exceeded.

One of the Americans returned Wednesday learned for the first time that he had won the nation's highest award—the Congressional Medal of Honor—for bravery the night he was captured two years ago.

He was Lt. James L. Stone of Hot Springs, Ark., who sat with tears in his eyes as he was told of the award by Brig. Gen. Ralph Osborne, 8th Army officer in charge of repatriation.

Stone was captured Nov. 23, 1951, during a fight in which he led his platoon in a valorous stand against waves of attacking Chinese. Although wounded, he stood fast with his men until he lost consciousness.

Lt. William H. Whiteside of Seattle brought back the report that 75 Americans who "con-

Kingston Has Been Hottest In All State

Kingstonians were broiling again today as the thermometer at 1:45 p. m. hit 102 "on the nose," according to the city engineer's office.

This reading equals that of July 18. It is, however, a record for the date. The previous high reading for Sept. 2 was 92 degrees in 1943 and 1944.

Meanwhile, it has been determined that Sunday's 101 is the highest recorded in the entire state during the current heat wave.

High yesterday was 97 degrees at 3 p. m., the city engineer reported.

It is the 10th straight day temperatures have been above 90 degrees.

The mercury reached 99 degrees at 2 p. m. Monday, burned at 101 degrees on Sunday, August 30, and tipped 99 on Saturday, August 29.

On Friday, August 28, high was 98 degrees, on Thursday, August 27, 93 degrees, on Wednesday, August 26, 91 degrees, Tuesday, August 25, 95 degrees, and Monday, August 24, 91 degrees.

Famous Violinist Killed in Air Crash In South of France

Forty-One Others Also Die as Craft Hits Peak 100 Miles North of Riviera

Nice, France, Sept. 2 (AP)—An Orient-bound French airliner crashed in flames late last night on the side of a 10,000-foot Alpine peak, killing France's most famous violinist, Jacques Thibaud, and 41 other persons.

The giant four-engined Air France plane was on a regularly-scheduled flight to Saigon and Hong Kong when it smashed near the towering summit of Mt. Cemet in southeast France 100 miles north of this Riviera resort.

Rescue workers who reached the scene after toiling more than five hours up the steep mountain slopes reported there were no survivors among the 33 passengers and nine crew members. Wreckage was scattered over 1,500 feet of the mountain side.

Could Give No Cause

Air France officials could give no cause for the crash, which occurred an hour and a half after the big plane left Paris' Orly field. They said messages from the pilot had reported all was well and weather good.

Rescue crews reported the temperature on the mountain side was below freezing but the weather otherwise was perfect.

Airline officials said the passengers included four Indochinese, one Swiss and a man believed to be a German. The rest apparently were French. Among the passengers were a baby and four other children.

With Thibaud were his daughter Suzanne and his accompanist, Rene Herbin. They were en route to Japan for concerts.

Second to Die

Thibaud was the second great French violinist killed in recent years in an Air France crash. The brilliant young woman player Ginette Neveu died in 1949 when another French liner crashed into a mountain in the Azores while en route to the United States.

The crash occurred at 11:30 p. m. (5:30 p. m. EST), 20 minutes before the Constellation was

Bronx Aide Says Howell Might Have Been Killed

New York, Sept. 2 (AP)—Slain labor leader Thomas F. Lewis knew his life was in danger, says Chief Assistant District Attorney George Tilzer of the Bronx.

Tilzer also says he fears for the life of William Howell, sought as the suspected driver of a getaway car in the murder of Lewis outside his Bronx apartment house last Friday.

There were unofficial reports today that some police officials believe Howell has been slain to protect those who engineered the murder.

Tilzer told newsmen yesterday of his fear that Howell might be killed, but he did not elaborate.

Authorities suspect Howell, 35, of Ridgefield, N. J., was the driver of a getaway car which the slayer, Edward (Snakes) Ryan, 45, never got a chance to use. Ryan, believed to have been hired for the killing, was shot to death by a policeman.

Tilzer said yesterday: "We definitely feel that others besides Howell and Ryan are involved in the shooting" of Lewis.

The prosecutor said Lewis, 35, in addition to knowing his life was in danger, had gotten wind of a plot to ease him out as president of Local 32-E of the AFL Building Service Employes International Union. Besides representing office and apartment house maintenance workers, the local represents employes at the Yonkers Raceway, trotting track at suburban Yonkers.

Tilzer said Lewis had employed "legal people to try to find out who was involved in this conspiracy."

It was known, according to Tilzer, that Lawrence Lynch and his brother, James, an official of Lewis' union local, were trying to "take over the union." But Lewis particularly wanted to know "the others" involved, the prosecutor added.

Lawrence Lynch, 45, of Hopewell Junction, formerly employed as a $2,000-a-month "trouble-shooter" for the Yonkers Raceway, has been arrested as a parole violator. Police said he was arrested after he proved uncooperative under questioning about Lewis' death. Lawrence Lynch and Howell, who formerly was employed as a pari-mutuel clerk at the Yonkers Raceway, are both ex-convicts. Police say the two have been friends for a long time.

New Statute On Offices To Be Voted

Council Adopts Law, Now to Be Given to Electorate — Terms Would Be Extended

Terms of certain city officials were extended from two to four years last night when Common Council adopted Local Law No. 1 amending the city charter.

Under the amendment the terms of office of the mayor, city judge, alderman-at-large and alderman were increased from two to four years.

The law received its first reading at the August meeting of Council and its second and final readings last night.

It takes effect upon approval by affirmative vote of a majority of the qualified electors of the city at the election November 3.

Effective in 1955

James G. Connelly, city corporation counsel, explained today that should the new law be approved by the voters it would not affect incoming officers. He said the law in existence at the time of the election was binding on officers elected this November.

If the law is approved by the electorate this November it becomes effective at the next city election in November, 1955, Connelly stated.

Council referred to the corporation counsel a claim of $35,000 against the city by Christopher Burke of 81 Hasbrouck avenue for alleged injuries received in a fall on the sidewalk at the northwest corner of Chambers and Union streets in the early morning of July 4.

Burke claimed that he fell "violently" to the ground "as a result of a broken sidewalk ledge with irregular depression and elevation which obstructed clear passage over the sidewalk."

No Warning, He Said

H claimed there was no warning of the "dangerous sidewalk condition," that he had been caused "great pain and suffering mentally and physically," including a fracture of the right femur, and that, as a result, he had been disabled in the earning of his livelihood and had incurred and would incur in the future expenses for medical and surgical treatment, hospitalization and nursing. He said, in a claim submitted by the firm of Flanagan and Ortale, that he had been totally disabled since the accident, would be unable to work for an indefinite period and that his capacity to earn a living had been affected, handicapping him economically and socially in his personal advancement.

Saccoman Reappointed

A communication was received from Mayor Newkirk announcing the reappointment of Thomas F. Saccoman of 75 O'Neil street as a zoning board commissioner for a period of three years expiring August 21, 1956.

A resolution from the Board of Public Works asked that Council approve a request by Acting County Superintendent Roland H. Green of the Ulster County Highway Department for the removal of an electric light standard and parking meter on Wall street to make way for a driveway at the County Court House in connection with the new Ulster County Parking Lot.

Council referred to corporation counsel a claim for $23 from Mrs. Jane Conlin of 214 Flatbush avenue who reported in a letter dated August 23 that the cellar of her home had been flooded recently with sewage "due to a blockage in the main sewer on Flatbush avenue" and that beaver board, plaster, laundry and a rug had been damaged. She said the cellar had been flooded on two other occasions "with damage ensuing."

Referred to Committee

A request from the Monarch Supply Company of 14-18 Ferry street for parking restrictions in the vicinity of the building was referred to the traffic control committee. The communication pointed out that the firm handled restaurant equipment and sup-

Engineer Is Killed

Poughkeepsie, Sept. 2 (AP)—James A. Burns, 70, a switch engineer for the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad, died yesterday of injuries sustained when he fell under a moving string of cars as he dismounted from a locomotive. Both legs were amputated. Burns lived at Hopewell Junction. He had been with the railroad 51 years.

Council Resolution Seeks Restoration of Academy Area Trees

Provides Market Be Notified of Unanimous Action

The city seeks restoration of trees taken down during recent years in the Academy Green section of the city in a resolution adopted unanimously by the Common Council last night.

A number of interested persons were present at the meeting to lend their support to the move which seeks to maintain the rich natural heritage of the city.

The resolution provides that Harry M. Schaffer, vice president of Schaffer Stores, Inc., which includes the Empire Market on Albany avenue facing Academy Green, be advised of the action.

No Permit on Record

It is pointed out in the resolution that no record exists in the office of the Board of Public Works to show issuance of a permit to remove trees along the curb line on property adjacent to the Empire Market and that, according to city charter, "no trees within or partly within the line of any street or highway shall be trimmed, removed or cut down without first obtaining the consent of the board or its superintendent."

The resolution called attention to recent requests by the Senate House Association and the Ulster County Historical Society for replacement of the trees.

Got Letter in May

In a letter to Schaffer, dated May 27, 1953, signed by Mrs. E. C. Chadbourne, president of the Senate House Association, Mrs. William F. Hasbrouck, president of the Ulster County Historical Society, and Richard O. Gruver, a member of the board of trustees of the Senate House Association, he was asked to give his consideration to the suggestion that a row of maple trees be planted in front of the proposed shopping center adjacent to the Empire Market.

The building would be far enough from the pavement to afford space for planting the trees, "thus restoring the symmetry," it was pointed out.

"We are aware of the necessity for progressive commercial development, but may we also ask

Albany Avenue Is To Be Open for Weekend Traffic

Miller's Lane, Andrew St., Delaware Avenue Projects Near Completion

Rebuilding Albany avenue is expected to be completed in time to accommodate Labor Day weekend traffic, according to Ernest A. Steuding, superintendent of the Department of Public Works, who said today, "This is a thorough job and the road should last for years."

Steuding made the observation about the Albany avenue project in a report to Acting Mayor Joseph Kelly, who asked for an answer to street work completion.

"We ripped up Albany avenue to put in a strong base," Steuding said, "established a drainage system and fixed a sewer break before laying the smooth top on the road."

The complete new road job on Miller's Lane should be done tonight, Steuding estimated, and Andrew street ought to be completed about Friday.

Delaware Problem

Delaware avenue, being rebuilt in the Ponckhockie section, has been a problem because of springs under the surface, Steuding said, but when the project is completed the road should be one of the best downtown with proper drainage, which is being adjusted during rebuilding.

Steuding estimated that Delaware avenue should be finished some time next week.

Aside from his road rebuilding program, Steuding top dressed Clinton avenue when contractors finished a sewer repair job that took several months, and his crews

Some Apartments Still Available

Housing Project Has 77 Families Installed —Other Work

While all 5½ and 3½ room apartments at the Colonial Gardens housing project on Flatbush avenue have been rented, there are available a few 4½ room apartments which will be completed on September 15.

Arthur A. Davis, Jr., chairman of the Kingston Housing Authority, stated today that 77 of the apartments have been completed and rented as of today. This includes all of the 5½ and 3½ rooms apartments and some of the 4½ room apartments.

"The balance of the 4½ room apartments will be finished September 15, and it is still possible to make application for those," Davis said.

These apartments are the two bed-room group and are suited to families consisting of husband and wife and either one child or two children of the same sex.

To Install System at 6 City Points

Ranges Will Be Varied From 2,500 to 1,500 Feet—Ends Bells for Kingston

Bells are coming out of city fire station towers and air horns are going in as the result of Common Council action last night.

Council appropriated $6,400 for the installation of a fire air-horn call system to replace the present system which was put into operation some 57 years ago.

The sum of $1,400 was appropriated as a down payment and issuance of $5,000 worth of city serial bonds authorized to finance the remainder.

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk filed a request for the air horns with Council about two months ago on recommendation of Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy and the board of fire commissioners.

Recommends System

The mayor told Council in a communication at its July meeting that he was recommending such a system throughout the city "for the protection of lives and property." He explained at that time that the system would provide an effective alarm for the notification of volunteer firemen.

The mayor explained that it was almost impossible to get parts for the repair of the present bell system, that manufacture of such parts was discontinued about 25 years ago.

Under the proposed plan four large compressors and horns would be installed at Wiltwyck, Wicks, Cornell and Union fire stations with a guaranteed range of 2,500 feet in all directions. Four horns with "direct driven compressors" would be installed at Excelsior, Twaalfskill, Rapid's and Cordts' with a guaranteed range of 1,500 feet.

Six-inch Diaphragms

All horns would have six-inch diaphragms but those with longer range would be operated under 100 pounds pressure against a 15-pound pressure for horns of lesser range.

Chief Murphy told The Freeman in a recent interview that he "would hate to see the bells go but there's nothing else you can do about it."

He explained that the cost of repairing the mechanisms which operate the bells, each weighing approximately 1,000 pounds, was prohibitive and that the towers housing the bells were also badly in need of repair, especially at Excelsior station on Hurley avenue "which would have to be rebuilt entirely." He said termites had eaten out the supports.

Have Piercing Tone

The chief said the horns had a more piercing tone than the bells

15 City Traffic Resolutions Are Submitted to Council

Fifteen resolutions were submitted by members of Common Council last night, most of them involving precautionary traffic measures.

Council referred to the traffic control committee and the Board of Public Works a request from Alderman John M. Dolan of the Eighth Ward for the painting of white safety lines at the southeastern end of the property of School 2, corner of West Pierpont and Hudson streets, a crossing point for students attending School 2, MJM, the high school, St. Mary's and St. Peter's.

Dolan also asked, in a second resolution, that blinker lights be placed at Broadway and McEntee street, West Pierpont and Wurts streets, McEntee and Wurts streets and West Chestnut and Montrepose avenue "for the protection of children crossing these intersections on their way to school."

A request from George Norton, Jr., of the Sixth Ward for a blinker light at Hasbrouck and Newkirk avenues was referred to the traffic control committee.

A second resolution by Alderman Norton asked that the gutter on Chambers street between School 3 and Murray street be cleaned, was referred to the Board of Public Works.

Alderman Martin W. Golden of the Ninth Ward asked that blinker lights be installed at Andrew and Peter streets and at the intersection of the exit from the MJM School and West O'Reilly street. His request was referred to the traffic control committee and the Board of Public Works.

A request by Alderman Abram D. Relyea of the Eleventh Ward for a blinker light at the intersection of Marius street and Washington avenue and for a no parking zone on the southwest side of Washington avenue 10 feet back from each crosswalk effective from 8 a. m. to 4 p. m. Including Wednesday's delivery, 11,716 allied prisoners have been freed. Before the exchange started, the Reds said they held 12,782 POWs, but have since indicated they would return more than that number. They said these would include an undisclosed number of men captured in the last days of the war.

According to the original Red figure, 286 Americans are yet to be returned, but this number probably will be exceeded.

One of the Americans returned Wednesday learned for the first time that he had won the nation's highest award—the Congressional Medal of Honor—for bravery the night he was captured two years ago.

He was Lt. James L. Stone of Hot Springs, Ark., who sat with tears in his eyes as he was told of the award by Brig. Gen. Ralph Osborne, 8th Army officer in charge of repatriation.

Stone was captured Nov. 23, 1951, during a fight in which he led his platoon in a valorous stand against waves of attacking Chinese. Although wounded, he stood fast with his men until he lost consciousness.

Lt. William H. Whiteside of Seattle brought back the report that 75 Americans who "con-

Kingston Has Been Hottest In All State

Kingstonians were broiling again today as the thermometer at 1:45 p. m. hit 102 "on the nose," according to the city engineer's office.

This reading equals that of July 18. It is, however, a record for the date. The previous high reading for Sept. 2 was 92 degrees in 1943 and 1944.

Meanwhile, it has been determined that Sunday's 101 is the highest recorded in the entire state during the current heat wave.

High yesterday was 97 degrees at 3 p. m., the city engineer reported.

It is the 10th straight day temperatures have been above 90 degrees.

The mercury reached 99 degrees at 2 p. m. Monday, burned at 101 degrees on Sunday, August 30, and tipped 99 on Saturday, August 29.

On Friday, August 28, high was 98 degrees, on Thursday, August 27, 93 degrees, on Wednesday, August 26, 91 degrees, Tuesday, August 25, 95 degrees, and Monday, August 24, 91 degrees.

Famous Violinist Killed in Air Crash In South of France

Forty-One Others Also Die as Craft Hits Peak 100 Miles North of Riviera

Nice, France, Sept. 2 (AP)—An Orient-bound French airliner crashed in flames late last night on the side of a 10,000-foot Alpine peak, killing France's most famous violinist, Jacques Thibaud, and 41 other persons.

The giant four-engined Air France plane was on a regularly-scheduled flight to Saigon and Hong Kong when it smashed near the towering summit of Mt. Cemet in southeast France 100 miles north of this Riviera resort.

Rescue workers who reached the scene after toiling more than five hours up the steep mountain slopes reported there were no survivors among the 33 passengers and nine crew members. Wreckage was scattered over 1,500 feet of the mountain side.

Could Give No Cause

Air France officials could give no cause for the crash, which occurred an hour and a half after the big plane left Paris' Orly field. They said messages from the pilot had reported all was well and weather good.

Rescue crews reported the temperature on the mountain side was below freezing but the weather otherwise was perfect.

Airline officials said the passengers included four Indochinese, one Swiss and a man believed to be a German. The rest apparently were French. Among the passengers were a baby and four other children.

With Thibaud were his daughter Suzanne and his accompanist, Rene Herbin. They were en route to Japan for concerts.

Second to Die

Thibaud was the second great French violinist killed in recent years in an Air France crash. The brilliant young woman player Ginette Neveu died in 1949 when another French liner crashed into a mountain in the Azores while en route to the United States.

The crash occurred at 11:30 p. m. (5:30 p. m. EST), 20 minutes before the Constellation was

Bronx Aide Says Howell Might Have Been Killed

New York, Sept. 2 (AP)—Slain labor leader Thomas F. Lewis knew his life was in danger, says Chief Assistant District Attorney George Tilzer of the Bronx.

Tilzer also says he fears for the life of William Howell, sought as the suspected driver of a getaway car in the murder of Lewis outside his Bronx apartment house last Friday.

There were unofficial reports today that some police officials believe Howell has been slain to protect those who engineered the murder.

Tilzer told newsmen yesterday of his fear that Howell might be killed, but he did not elaborate.

Authorities suspect Howell, 35, of Ridgefield, N. J., was the driver of a getaway car which the slayer, Edward (Snakes) Ryan, 45, never got a chance to use. Ryan, believed to have been hired for the killing, was shot to death by a policeman.

Tilzer said yesterday: "We definitely feel that others besides Howell and Ryan are involved in the shooting" of Lewis.

The prosecutor said Lewis, 35, in addition to knowing his life was in danger, had gotten wind of a plot to ease him out as president of Local 32-E of the AFL Building Service Employes International Union. Besides representing office and apartment house maintenance workers, the local represents employes at the Yonkers Raceway, trotting track at suburban Yonkers.

Tilzer said Lewis had employed "legal people to try to find out who was involved in this conspiracy."

It was known, according to Tilzer, that Lawrence Lynch and his brother, James, an official of Lewis' union local, were trying to "take over the union." But Lewis particularly wanted to know "the others" involved, the prosecutor added.

Lawrence Lynch, 45, of Hopewell Junction, formerly employed as a $2,000-a-month "troubleshooter" for the Yonkers Raceway, has been arrested as a parole violator. Police said he was arrested after he proved uncooperative under questioning about Lewis' death. Lawrence Lynch and Howell, who formerly was employed as a pari-mutuel clerk at the Yonkers Raceway, are both ex-convicts. Police say the two have been friends for a long time.

Council Appropriates $6,400 for Fire Horns

New Statute On Offices To Be Voted

Council Adopts Law, Now to Be Given to Electorate — Terms Would Be Extended

Terms of certain city officials were extended from two to four years last night when Common Council adopted Local Law No. 1 amending the city charter.

Under the amendment the terms of office of the mayor, city judge, alderman-at-large and alderman were increased from two to four years.

The law received its first reading at the August meeting of Council and its second and final readings last night.

It takes effect upon approval by affirmative vote of a majority of the qualified electors of the city at the election November 3.

Effective in 1955

James G. Connelly, city corporation counsel, explained today that should the new law be approved by the voters it would not affect incoming officers. He said the law in existence at the time of the election was binding on officers elected this November.

If the law is approved by the electorate this November it becomes effective at the next city election in November, 1955, Connelly stated.

Council referred to the corporation counsel a claim of $35,000 against the city by Christopher Burke of 81 Hasbrouck avenue for alleged injuries received in a fall on the sidewalk at the northwest corner of Chambers and Union streets in the early morning of July 4.

Burke claimed that he fell "violently" to the ground "as a result of a broken sidewalk ledge with irregular depression and elevation which obstructed clear passage over the sidewalk."

No Warning, He Said

H claimed there was no warning of the "dangerous sidewalk condition," that he had been caused "great pain and suffering mentally and physically," including a fracture of the right femur, and that, as a result, he had been disabled in the earning of his livelihood and had incurred and would incur in the future expenses for medical and surgical treatment, hospitalization and nursing. He said, in a claim submitted by the firm of Flanagan and Ortale, that he had been totally disabled since the accident, would be unable to work for an indefinite period and that his capacity to earn a living had been affected, handicapping him economically and socially in his personal advancement.

Saccoman Reappointed

A communication was received from Mayor Newkirk announcing the reappointment of Thomas F. Saccoman of 75 O'Neil street as a zoning board commissioner for a period of three years expiring August 21, 1956.

A resolution from the Board of Public Works asked that Council approve a request by Acting County Superintendent Roland H. Green of the Ulster County Highway Department for the removal of an electric light standard and parking meter on Wall street to make way for a driveway at the County Court House in connection with the new Ulster County Parking Lot.

Council referred to corporation counsel a claim for $23 from Mrs. Jane Conlin of 214 Flatbush avenue who reported in a letter dated August 23 that the cellar of her home had been flooded recently with sewage "due to a blockage in the main sewer on Flatbush avenue" and that beaver board, plaster, laundry and a rug had been damaged. She said the cellar had been flooded on two other occasions "with damage ensuing."

Referred to Committee

A request from the Monarch Supply Company of 14-18 Ferry street for parking restrictions in the vicinity of the building was referred to the traffic control committee. The communication pointed out that the firm handled restaurant equipment and sup-

Engineer Is Killed

Poughkeepsie, Sept. 2 (AP)—James A. Burns, 70, a switch engineer for the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad, died yesterday of injuries sustained when he fell under a moving string of cars as he dismounted from a locomotive. Both legs were amputated. Burns lived at Hopewell Junction. He had been with the railroad 51 years.

Council Resolution Seeks Restoration of Academy Area Trees

Provides Market Be Notified of Unanimous Action

The city seeks restoration of trees taken down during recent years in the Academy Green section of the city in a resolution adopted unanimously by the Common Council last night.

A number of interested persons were present at the meeting to lend their support to the move which seeks to maintain the rich natural heritage of the city.

The resolution provides that Harry M. Schaffer, vice president of Schaffer Stores, Inc., which includes the Empire Market on Albany avenue facing Academy Green, be advised of the action.

No Permit on Record

It is pointed out in the resolution that no record exists in the office of the Board of Public Works to show issuance of a permit to remove trees along the curb line on property adjacent to the Empire Market and that, according to city charter, "no trees within or partly within the line of any street or highway shall be trimmed, removed or cut down without first obtaining the consent of the board or its superintendent."

The resolution called attention to recent requests by the Senate House Association and the Ulster County Historical Society for replacement of the trees.

Got Letter in May

In a letter to Schaffer, dated May 27, 1953, signed by Mrs. E. C. Chadbourne, president of the Senate House Association, Mrs. William F. Hasbrouck, president of the Ulster County Historical Society, and Richard O. Gruver, a member of the board of trustees of the Senate House Association, he was asked to give his consideration to the suggestion that a row of maple trees be planted in front of the proposed shopping center adjacent to the Empire Market.

The building would be far enough from the pavement to afford space for planting the trees, "thus restoring the symmetry," it was pointed out.

"We are aware of the necessity for progressive commercial development, but may we also ask

Albany Avenue Is To Be Open for Weekend Traffic

Miller's Lane, Andrew St., Delaware Avenue Projects Near Completion

Rebuilding Albany avenue is expected to be completed in time to accommodate Labor Day weekend traffic, according to Ernest A. Steuding, superintendent of the Department of Public Works, who said today, "This is a thorough job and the road should last for years."

Steuding made the observation about the Albany avenue project in a report to Acting Mayor Joseph Kelly, who asked for an answer to street work completion.

"We ripped up Albany avenue to put in a strong base," Steuding said, "established a drainage system and fixed a sewer break before laying the smooth top on the road."

The complete new road job on Miller's Lane should be done tonight, Steuding estimated, and Andrew street ought to be completed about Friday.

Delaware Problem

Delaware avenue, being rebuilt in the Ponckhockie section, has been a problem because of springs under the surface, Steuding said, but when the project is completed the road should be one of the best downtown with proper drainage, which is being adjusted during rebuilding.

Steuding estimated that Delaware avenue should be finished some time next week.

Aside from his road rebuilding program, Steuding top dressed Clinton avenue when contractors finished a sewer repair job that took several months, and his crews

Some Apartments Still Available

Housing Project Has 77 Families Installed —Other Work

While all 5½ and 3½ room apartments at the Colonial Gardens housing project on Flatbush avenue have been rented, there are available a few 4½ room apartments which will be completed on September 15.

Arthur A. Davis, Jr., chairman of the Kingston Housing Authority, stated today that 77 of the apartments have been completed and rented as of today. This includes all of the 5½ and 3½ rooms apartments and some of the 4½ room apartments.

"The balance of the 4½ room apartments will be finished September 15, and it is still possible to make application for those," Davis said.

These apartments are the two bed-room group and are suited to families consisting of husband and wife and either one child or two children of the same sex.

To Install System at 6 City Points

Ranges Will Be Varied From 2,500 to 1,500 Feet—Ends Bells for Kingston

Bells are coming out of city fire station towers and air horns are going in as the result of Common Council action last night.

Council appropriated $6,400 for the installation of a fire air-horn call system to replace the present system which was put into operation some 57 years ago.

The sum of $1,400 was appropriated as a down payment and issuance of $5,000 worth of city serial bonds authorized to finance the remainder.

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk filed a request for the air horns with Council about two months ago on recommendation of Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy and the board of fire commissioners.

Recommends System

The mayor told Council in a communication at its July meeting that he was recommending such a system throughout the city "for the protection of lives and property." He explained at that time that the system would provide an effective alarm for the notification of volunteer firemen.

The mayor explained that it was almost impossible to get parts for the repair of the present bell system, that manufacture of such parts was discontinued about 25 years ago.

Under the proposed plan four large compressors and horns would be installed at Wiltwyck, Wicks, Cornell and Union fire stations with a guaranteed range of 2,500 feet in all directions. Four horns with "direct driven compressors" would be installed at Excelsior, Twaalfskill, Rapid's and Cordts' with a guaranteed range of 1,500 feet.

Six-inch Diaphragms

All horns would have six-inch diaphragms but those with longer range would be operated under 100 pounds pressure against a 15-pound pressure for horns of lesser range.

Chief Murphy told The Freeman in a recent interview that he "would hate to see the bells go but there's nothing else you can do about it."

He explained that the cost of repairing the mechanisms which operate the bells, each weighing approximately 1,000 pounds, was prohibitive and that the towers housing the bells were also badly in need of repair, especially at Excelsior station on Hurley avenue "which would have to be rebuilt entirely." He said termites had eaten out the supports.

Have Piercing Tone

The chief said the horns had a more piercing tone than the bells

15 City Traffic Resolutions Are Submitted to Council

Fifteen resolutions were submitted by members of Common Council last night, most of them involving precautionary traffic measures.

Council referred to the traffic control committee and the Board of Public Works a request from Alderman John M. Dolan of the Eighth Ward for the painting of white safety lines at the southeastern end of the property of School 2, corner of West Pierpont and Hudson streets, a crossing point for students attending School 2, MJM, the high school, St. Mary's and St. Peter's.

Dolan also asked, in a second resolution, that blinker lights be placed at Broadway and McEntee street, West Pierpont and Wurts streets, McEntee and Wurts streets and West Chestnut and Montrepose avenue "for the protection of children crossing these intersections on their way to school."

A request from George Norton, Jr., of the Sixth Ward for a blinker light at Hasbrouck and Newkirk avenues was referred to the traffic control committee.

A second resolution by Alderman Norton asked that the gutter on Chambers street between School 3 and Murray street be cleaned, was referred to the Board of Public Works.

Alderman Martin W. Golden of the Ninth Ward asked that blinker lights be installed at Andrew and Peter streets and at the intersection of the exit from the MJM School and West O'Reilly street. His request was referred to the traffic control committee and the Board of Public Works.

A request by Alderman Abram D. Relyea of the Eleventh Ward for a blinker light at the intersection of Marius street and Washington avenue and for a no parking zone on the southwest side of Washington avenue 10 feet back from each crosswalk effective from 8 a. m. to 4 p. m. St. John Tells Lions Plan in Making To Halt Speeding

The possibility that Kingston and Ulster county may procure either a radar or an electric device for the detection of speeders was revealed by District Attorney Howard C. St. John in a talk Tuesday noontime before members of the Lions Club.

Citing the experience of Rochester, where the use of radar cut speeding offenses and helped reduce accidents, St. John said that attempts are being made to obtain approval to purchase some type of automatic timing device locally.

Electric and radar systems have been used in many places to provide proof of speed limit violations without the need for "tailing" an automobile in a police car.

Drop in Accidents

In Rochester, St. John pointed out, speed enforcement is just part of the city's all-out effort to cut its accident rate. He also outlined new steps being taken to cut drunken driving by providing evidence to confront the accused by the use of moving pictures, tape recordings and other means of showing the defendant's actual condition at the time of his arrest. Since the campaign began, convictions on intoxicated driving arrests rose from 27 per cent to 92 per cent, and there has been a drop in accident occurrence, he said.

St. John noted that a new law passed by the New York state Legislature makes it possible for the commissioner of motor vehicles to revoke the driver's license of any person who, when accused of driving while intoxicated, refuses to submit to a blood test.

Plea on School Opening

Concluding his talk at the Lions Club regular luncheon meeting at the Governor Clinton Hotel, the district attorney stated that when school begins next Tuesday there will be children crossing streets and gathering in groups near the schools. "Please, please drive safely," he said, "your children deserve it."

The 4H projects are his favorites.

It's good to be missed

Now that Schlitz is again available everywhere, orders are pouring in at an unheard of rate. No such flood of orders has ever been seen in the history of this or any other brewery.

Absence has made the heart grow fonder. Based on the orders on hand for Schlitz, the most popular beer in history is destined to become even more popular than ever.

The power behind these orders is the pent-up demand of the American people for the brand they know and like best—a beer so fine it made a city famous.

This is the public's response to Schlitz quality after ten long weeks of absence. It's good to know you've been missed.

The reason is that Schlitz has given more satisfaction to more people than any other beer in the world.

Needless to say, The Beer that Made Milwaukee Famous will continue to meet the high standards you yourself have set for the finest beer obtainable.

Schlitz takes this opportunity to thank our millions and millions of friends, our wholesalers and dealers.

There's no doubt about it—if you like beer, you'll love Schlitz—America's largest selling beer.

CRITICAL MONTHS FOR G.O.P.

President Eisenhower and his top budget men are soberly conscious that the months between now and next January are critical to all the Republican hopes of a balanced budget and lower taxes.

All the budget savings achieved or indicated thus far will not eliminate a sizable deficit in the fiscal year ending next June 30. (The deficit in the year just closed was $9.3 billion.)

On top of this hard fact must be placed the prospect of an 11 per cent personal income tax reduction and the elimination of the excess profits tax on business Jan. 1. Both these changes will take place automatically, unless Congress should unexpectedly vote their retention. And they will cost the government about $5 billion a year.

Moreover, next April 1 an additional $3 billion in regular corporation and excise tax cuts are due to take effect. Congress shows no willingness to cancel the cuts.

Add this $8 billion loss to the several billion dollars of deficit already in sight and you get some idea of how great the President's problem is.

Of course, he may ask Congress to replace some of the lost revenue by voting substitute taxes. But the lawmakers have indicated no taste for this in an election year.

The alternative is drastic cutting, and even that may fall far short of balancing the budget. Nevertheless, the latest White House economy orders were the firm proof that the administration understands the size of its task.

The President's public letter to federal bureaus was not as impressive in this regard as was the secret directive sent around by Budget Director Joseph Dodge.

The administration wants first to get further cuts, below-budget estimates, in the current year's spending. Otherwise it fears federal agencies will not be able to adjust to the still more severe reductions needed in the 1955 fiscal year (starting next July).

It understands that the desired savings cannot be achieved merely by cutting back existing programs. Said the secret order: "The situation demands a new determination of what the government should be doing and should not be doing."

This is a frank challenge to agency heads to re-examine the usefulness of whole operations within their control, and to eliminate those functions which seem questionable in any way.

When you begin wiping out not simply dollars spent but whole programs, resistance mounts both in the affected agencies and in Congress itself. For the lawmakers never have been famous for voting out of existence federal activities which benefit their own states or districts. That is not what they mean by economy.

"No saving can be considered too small," said the economy order. Perhaps that phrase sets the key for the grimmest spending policy enunciated at the White House in 20 years. The question now is whether Congress and the federal bureaucracy will act in the same key.

Usually the fellow who goes throwing his weight about has a very poor sense of balance.

TERMITE TROUBLE

Are there termites in your house? If so, the reason may be your builder's neglect of established protective measures such as keeping the outer woodwork at least six inches from the ground and providing air circulation in spaces under floors. This point is made by Dr. John H. Schmitt, a Rutgers University professor of entomology.

Termites live in the soil, but depend on wood for food. If fill-in earth is used above sills and joists or under porches, it probably contains scrap wood and lath, just what termites would order. And if there is not good ventilation under buildings without full cellars, the earth underneath would be warm enough to keep termites alive during the winter.

Termites are a modern problem, says Dr. Schmitt, and are encouraged by present-day building styles. The old-time houses with high foundations and full cellars stood for centuries without developing these pests.

Is your house built to suit the termites?

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

A GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY

Those gentle-minded persons who do not fear and will not fight Communism, because they regard it as a movement of little permanence, particularly in this country, should have been required to attend the 50th Anniversay of the Communist Party of the Soviet Union (1903-1953).

The Bolsheviks (as they originally called themselves) have not been limited to Soviet Russia. They were an offshoot of the Social Democratic Party which Karl Marx developed to propagate his ideas. The First International (1864-1876) was his instrument as long as it lasted. The Second International was more moderate but it ceased to be of any importance after 1917. The Third International (Comintern and later Cominform) is the world-wide Communist instrument for propaganda, infiltration and espionage of Soviet Russia.

At the 1903 meeting of the Russian Social Democratic party in London, Lenin took a position which split the party. Those who followed Lenin were in the majority and were therefore called Bolsheviks; the minority were called Mensheviks and they are now either dead or in exile.

Lenin was successful in seeding down Bolshevism in Russia in the 1917 Revolution which he won with hardly any popular support. Had he failed, had Kerensky been able to establish a democratic regime, or had General Kornilov been able to restore the monarchy modelled after Great Britain, the history of our era might have been less dreadful. The fact is that Lenin, assisted by Trotzky, succeeded and Bolshevism ceased to be a subject for soap-box orators in Union Square in New York or Hyde Park in London; it became a world force financed by the resources of a government.

Having established itself in Russia, it retained most of the institutions of Czarist Russia, namely, autocracy, the centralization of government in an individual, the supreme power of the state over the life of the individual, the revival of serfdom, particularly in agriculture and of slave labor in camps designated for the purpose. But worst of all, it took over the Okhrana, the terrifying secret police which reduces the human being to a frightened, anxious creature. The Okhrana first became the Cheka, then the OGPU, then the NKVD, now the MVD. The name changes; the institution remains the same.

In the czarist autocracy, the czar, "The Little Father," as he was called, was not only the civil but the religious ruler of his people. He held his throne by divine right and regarded himself as the vicar in Russia of God. Lenin, as a materialist, could not adopt this role, so he deified Karl Marx and became his prophet. Henceforth, the basic emotional and intellectual concepts of Russia were to be called Marxism-Leninism.

Stalin was not so modest. He deified himself and required obeisance as to an oriental potentate. He became the state, the church, the conscience of the people. He styled himself the world's greatest genius in all fields. And the day after he died, his name was erased from memory. But Lenin still lives on, the embodiment of Bolshevism.

Fifty years is not a long period in history nor even in the existence of a political party. In a review of the 50th Anniversary issued by the Propaganda and Agitation Department and the Marx-Engels-Lenin-Stalin Institute, this appears:

"Our party is the only party in the country. It undividedly exercises the leading role in Soviet society. Leadership by the Communist Party is the decisive condition for the firmness and unshakeability of the Soviet system and for all the successes of our people. . . ."

In fact, the party is put ahead of the country. It is supreme. In another part of this review of party history appears:

"The whole course of the half-century history of the Communist Party of the Soviet Union has shown the immense importance of the principles of party leadership and norms of party life worked out by Lenin. The party teaches that it is imperatively necessary to carry out these laws of party organization, strictly to adhere to the supreme principle of party leadership, namely, collective leadership, and to the requirements of the Party Rules. . . ."

Those who question the dicta of the party are killed. This emphasis on rigid orthodoxy has produced a reactionary, autocratic, brutal resurrection of orientalism—a return to the world of Genghis Khan, to autocracy and the reduction of man to a thing.

SURGERY IS SAFE FOR OLDER PEOPLE

Many of us as we grow older may have the feeling that surgery is for the young or the middle-aged; that with the decline of general health and vitality common to the elderly, surgery is dangerous and should be used only in an emergency.

It is true that most people as they grow older gradually become weaker even if there is no real or organic disease present. However, in the "American Practitioner," Dr. Benjamin F. Byrd states that "beneficial results in geriatric surgery (surgery for the elderly) cases prove that no patient is too old, by years alone, to have an operation. In selected older individuals surgery can add years of life and can increase comfort in the years that are added."

While physicians and surgeons have been studying the effects of disease and how to prevent diseased or dangerous conditions of the body, our physiologists have been studying the normal body and its working processes. Because of this study, old patients are carefully examined, unless it is an emergency, and then are built up physically till they become safe for surgery. Also, with more recent advances in surgical technique, anesthesia, and care after operation, operations are now safer than ever before.

With the number of persons over 65 increased fourfold since 1900, demand alone has forced the physician to provide active surgical treatment for older persons. In a two-year period, 1926-27, only 41, or 2.3 per cent, of 1,728 operations at Vanderbilt University Hospital were performed on persons over 69 years of age, whereas 244, or 7.42 per cent, of 3,424 operations in the year beginning July 1, 1950, were for such elderly persons. That is, more than three times as many of these elderly people are undergoing operation than in previous years. This increase in the percentage of elderly people undergoing surgery is not due to the new techniques in surgery. "Benefits extend to all types of surgical operations and more old people have been classifid as satisfactory surgical risks."

These same satisfactory surgical results in elderly women undergoing gynecological operations are obtained. Prior to 1935 only three gnecological operations with one death, were performed in older women, whereas from 1950 to 1952, 33 such operations were performed without a single death. Also, orthopedic cases (operations on legs and arms) and operations on stomach and intestines, were performed without any deaths.

In view of the above information, older people need not worry about necessary operations because they happen to be over 60.

Edson's Washington News Notebook

Washington (NEA)—President Eisenhower's statement that the atomic energy law should be brought up to date so as to give the American people more information on this subject has tapped a keg of eels.

There is no thought here of giving the Russians or anybody else the American know-how on making A-bombs. But half a dozen other things are involved and it is important to keep them straight in any move towards declassification of atomic secrets.

The term, "restricted data" under the present law includes "the manufacture or utilization of atomic weapons, the production of fissionable material, or the use of fissionable material in the production of power. . . ."

When this law was adopted in 1946 it was assumed that the United States would maintain its monopoly of production. But now Russia has made at least three atomic explosions. It's assumed that some of the original American secrets are now known to the Russians. The question now is: Is there any need to keep secret from the American people what the Russians already know about the production of fissionable materials?

New Power in Bombs

The increased power of the new-type bombs and the hydrogen bomb now under development may necessitate giving the American people more information on the destructive forces.

In 1950 the Atomic Energy Commission published a "Weapons Effect Handbook." It was intended for use of military and civilian engineers and medical authorities in planning defenses against atomic attack.

The bombs of that time had a force of 20,000 tons of TNT. Bombs tested in Nevada earlier this year had the force of at least 50,000 tons of TNT. So the Weapons Effect Handbook of 1950 is presumably obsolete. The question now is: Should new data be released to reveal the super-bomb force, so that more adequate defenses may be planned?

Along this same line, should more information be given on Russian atomic bomb capabilities, so that the American people will know what to expect in case of a surprise atomic attack?

This particular point has nothing to do with changing the U. S. atomic energy law. It will be a determination for the President and the National Security Council to make on revealing U. S. intelligence reports. President Eisenhower's committee on psychological warfare headed by William H. Jackson, has just recommended that this be done.

Should Reveal A-Strength?

There has been some expression of opinion that the U. S. should reveal its own atomic strength. The idea behind this is that such disclosure might deter an enemy from trying to make any atomic attack on the free world countries.

This is not taken to mean that the U. S. should disclose the size of its atomic bomb stockpile, nor bomb production rate. Gordon Dean, former chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, says that the "order of magnitude" of U. S. atomic power might be disclosed without mentioning any numbers of bombs. This could be done by citing the number of cities that could be destroyed in one attack.

In planning for any international defenses against sudden atomic attack, the question of furnishing our allies with information about atomic weapons is most important.

In 1951 Congress amended the atomic energy act to authorize specific agreements to exchange information on the production of fissionable materials with allied foreign powers. Giving restricted data on the design and manufacture of atomic weapons was, however, banned.

The amendment said further that no information could be given a foreign government unless the President had received a written recommendation from the National Security Council. Even then the information can be given by the Atomic Energy Commission only after 30 days' notice has been given to the Congressional Joint Atomic Energy Committee while Congress is in session. From the point of view of planning an adequate European defense, this is considered by some military authorities as too cumbersome a restriction.

There is, finally, the question of making more data available to private industry for the production of atomic power. This is considered a real necessity if there is to be the fullest possible development of this new source of energy for peacetime uses. Congress now has this question, but may not act this year.

Split Among Democrats Is Termed Matter of Basic Principle

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Sept. 1—Northern Democrats apparently have learned very little since November 1952 or they would not be asking the Southern Democrats to forget or surrender the fundamentals which have estranged them from the Democratic party.

As the meeting of the Democratic National Committee in Chicago approaches, there is much talk directed at the Southerners, telling them to "come in and bury the hatchet" or "to unite for victory"—just as if nothing had happened. Much of the talk emanating from Northern leaders resembles the tactics of certain negotiators on the international scene. They call for "peace offensives" but, when their proposals are analyzed, it is discovered they mean peace only on their own terms.

The friction between the two wings of the Democratic party is too deep-seated to be cured by exhortation. The first step toward harmony is to begin to understand that the Southern Democrats are conscientious in their adherence to certain principles and that, if the Northern Democrats want to make peace, they will have to exhibit a tolerance which they have not manifested in party councils for many years.

The Southern Democrats look askance, for instance, at the way the Northern faction has become the tool and instrument of "radicalism." This term is often rejected by the Northern Democrats, who say their creed is really "liberalism." To this the Southerners reply that any program which is based on compulsion and coercion instead of voluntarism is not true liberalism but something approximating totalitarianism.

The clash arises, of course, out of the effort of the Northern "liberals" to ram down the throats of the Southerners a compulsory F.E.P.C. — a piece of legislation that would empower a Federal government commission to tell an employer whom he shall hire as employes. Nor have the Southern Democrats ever swallowed the coercive features of collective bargaining which were originally introduced in the Wagner labor relations act. The feeling against Trumanism and the New Deal and Fair Deal philosophy of government is so ingrained that it cannot be eradicated by a continuance of the bellicose attitude exhibited by Northern Democrats at the party's national convention in Chicago last year.

The argument over the so-called "loyalty" pledge need not be a barrier to party harmony. Loyalty to the ticket is taken for granted in party politics, but the young "liberals" who made an issue of it at the last convention insulted the Southerners and unless that "loyalty" resolution is wiped out of the records at the Democratic National Committee's meeting in Chicago on Sept. 14-15, the chances of healing the breach on other issues is lessened.

Every individual feels that he has the right to vote as he pleases in a Presidential election, even if he attends a party convention as a delegate. He would not be justified, of course, in using the party machinery locally in an election to oppose the choice of the national convention of his party, but he has a right to the expression of his own views at any time. To say to a member of the Democratic party—the party which prides itself on individual freedom and tolerance—that he must, even before knowing the platform or the identity of the candidates, pledge himself blindly as an individual to support the unknown is to violate the tradition of independence which Democrats have always cherished.

It is precisely the threat that a minority of delegates may bolt the party as individuals in a single election which makes it necessary for the majority to keep faith with party tradition in whatever it does. To interject a program of compulsion or to propose that freedom of contract be abolished in America is to espouse a fundamental philosophy alien to the Democratic party—at least, so the southerners feel.

When the Northern Democrats cease to toady to pressure groups which are hostile to the South and begin to perceive that reforms can be more quickly achieved by voluntary methods, the "civil rights" issue will no longer split the Democratic party. If the Northerners really want peace, they might better start studying the basic issues that have caused the cleavage and come up with some proposals on that score rather than expect the Southern Democrats to come crawling back into the party in abject surrender. For the South today holds the balance of political power in America and its support cannot be won by assuming it is impotent or merely recalcitrant. The basic issues are still unsolved.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Vincent Langan, a New York traffic policeman, ran some risk of "investigation" by the FBI and indictment by a federal grand jury for killing "Snakes" Ryan, an habitual criminal and jail-breaked who had just murdered a crooked union boss of the old Scalise racket named Thomas F. Lewis. The streets were crowded, the gunman, armed with a .45 automatic, took cover behind some baby carriages at one point and Patrolman Langan had to make a quick arbitrary decision whether he would risk punishment for violating the civil rights of a member of some political minority in shooting him. He took that chance and the more dangerous risk of death as the gunman fired away in a chase and finally killed his man after pausing once to reload.

Lewis was a notorious crook in control of a rotten racket of the AF of L, but, for some reason, had decided to saw off a shakedown which was being operated against the Yonkers Trotting Track by the brothers Lynch, Jimmy and La-La, or Lawrence. All the trotting tracks have been falling under various AF of L rackets in recent years and Congressman Clare Hoffman, of Michigan, was just beginning to pry into this when some of his lazy and jealous Republican colleagues decided that he was getting too much favorable publicity and used a parliamentary trick to suspend his activities for the summer.

Actually, the Building Service Workers' Union, the old Scalise-Capone racket, has no more jurisdiction over trotting parks than the milliners but these rackets claim jurisdiction by right of discovery or conquest. The alert building service extortioners have muscled into many such horse parks. Incidentally, harness racing itself has almost fallen to the level of wrestling and is now no better than the unions which prey upon it. The genuine horsemen, a tricky lot at best but of the nonviolent David Harum school, have little to say about their sport. Harness racing has gone nocturnal and things now happen in the dark under the unions which never were thought of in daylight.

La-La Lynch was carried on the payroll of the Yonkers layout at $2,000 a month as troubleshooter. His brother, Jimmy, was the business agent of Local 32-E of the Building Service racket, assigned to the track. La-La's duty was to keep the track out of "labor" jams with his brother's own union.

Lewis broke up the play, ordering the track to fire La-La.

An automobile seemed to lurk on the outskirts of the shooting and Patrolman Langan memorized the license number. It was traced to an employe of the track. Langan finally had had to stand over "snakes" Ryan and pump bullets into him as he lay wounded on the sidewalk. Ryan had played dead, thus drawing the policeman unwarily close, and then had taken one more shot with his .45. After that Langan took no chances.

Deputy Chief Inspector Byrne said his conduct was fine police work. However, two of Tom Dewey's old assistants from his days in the district attorney's office became high dignitaries of Local 32-B which is the most prosperous local, financially, and the most powerful in the whole system, so civil rights might be involved here. One was Aaron Benenson, the other was Victor J. Horwitz. Mr. Horwitz has since severed his connection with the union. After they had helped Tom Dewey smash the old Scalise-Capone racket, they were hired to keep evil personalities at bay. They had not done much field work in the task of rooting out the Scalise-Capone mob but in the legal fight they were diligent and, under Dewey's leadership in court, got results. Scalise went to prison for three consecutive terms and Mr. Benenson moved in as the controlling influence in 32-B. There were some who hoisted an eyebrow at this, but Dewey said he had given Benenson and Horwitz his blessing. Some members of 32-B grumbled that Benenson was getting $25,000 a year, virtually for life, and a law-suit filed against Horwitz ten years ago alleged that he was getting $40,000 a year.

A slick-paper publication issued by 32-B showed still another attorney for 32-B, by name Harold Israelson. The humble window-washers, chambermaids, cleaning maids and janitors of New York were doing very well by their lawyers but were not al-

CRITICAL MONTHS FOR G.O.P.

President Eisenhower and his top budget men are soberly conscious that the months between now and next January are critical to all the Republican hopes of a balanced budget and lower taxes.

All the budget savings achieved or indicated thus far will not eliminate a sizable deficit in the fiscal year ending next June 30. (The deficit in the year just closed was $9.3 billion.)

On top of this hard fact must be placed the prospect of an 11 per cent personal income tax reduction and the elimination of the excess profits tax on business Jan. 1. Both these changes will take place automatically, unless Congress should unexpectedly vote their retention. And they will cost the government about $5 billion a year.

Moreover, next April 1 an additional $3 billion in regular corporation and excise tax cuts are due to take effect. Congress shows no willingness to cancel the cuts.

Add this $8 billion loss to the several billion dollars of deficit already in sight and you get some idea of how great the President's problem is.

Of course, he may ask Congress to replace some of the lost revenue by voting substitute taxes. But the lawmakers have indicated no taste for this in an election year.

The alternative is drastic cutting, and even that may fall far short of balancing the budget. Nevertheless, the latest White House economy orders were the firm proof that the administration understands the size of its task.

The President's public letter to federal bureaus was not as impressive in this regard as was the secret directive sent around by Budget Director Joseph Dodge.

The administration wants first to get further cuts, below-budget estimates, in the current year's spending. Otherwise it fears federal agencies will not be able to adjust to the still more severe reductions needed in the 1955 fiscal year (starting next July).

It understands that the desired savings cannot be achieved merely by cutting back existing programs. Said the secret order: "The situation demands a new determination of what the government should be doing and should not be doing."

This is a frank challenge to agency heads to re-examine the usefulness of whole operations within their control, and to eliminate those functions which seem questionable in any way.

When you begin wiping out not simply dollars spent but whole programs, resistance mounts both in the affected agencies and in Congress itself. For the lawmakers never have been famous for voting out of existence federal activities which benefit their own states or districts. That is not what they mean by economy.

"No saving can be considered too small," said the economy order. Perhaps that phrase sets the key for the grimmest spending policy enunciated at the White House in 20 years. The question now is whether Congress and the federal bureaucracy will act in the same key.

Usually the fellow who goes throwing his weight about has a very poor sense of balance.

TERMITE TROUBLE

Are there termites in your house? If so, the reason may be your builder's neglect of established protective measures such as keeping the outer woodwork at least six inches from the ground and providing air circulation in spaces under floors. This point is made by Dr. John H. Schmitt, a Rutgers University professor of entomology.

Termites live in the soil, but depend on wood for food. If fill-in earth is used above sills and joists or under porches, it probably contains scrap wood and lath, just what termites would order. And if there is not good ventilation under buildings without full cellars, the earth underneath would be warm enough to keep termites alive during the winter.

Termites are a modern problem, says Dr. Schmitt, and are encouraged by present-day building styles. The old-time houses with high foundations and full cellars stood for centuries without developing these pests.

Is your house built to suit the termites?

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

A GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY

Those gentle-minded persons who do not fear and will not fight Communism, because they regard it as a movement of little permanence, particularly in this country, should have been required to attend the 50th Anniversay of the Communist Party of the Soviet Union (1903-1953).

The Bolsheviks (as they originally called themselves) have not been limited to Soviet Russia. They were an offshoot of the Social Democratic Party which Karl Marx developed to propagate his ideas. The First International (1864-1876) was his instrument as long as it lasted. The Second International was more moderate but it ceased to be of any importance after 1917. The Third International (Comintern and later Cominform) is the world-wide Communist instrument for propaganda, infiltration and espionage of Soviet Russia.

At the 1903 meeting of the Russian Social Democratic party in London, Lenin took a position which split the party. Those who followed Lenin were in the majority and were therefore called Bolsheviks; the minority were called Mensheviks and they are now either dead or in exile.

Lenin was successful in seeding down Bolshevism in Russia in the 1917 Revolution which he won with hardly any popular support. Had he failed, had Kerensky been able to establish a democratic regime, or had General Kornilov been able to restore the monarchy modelled after Great Britain, the history of our era might have been less dreadful. The fact is that Lenin, assisted by Trotzky, succeeded and Bolshevism ceased to be a subject for soap-box orators in Union Square in New York or Hyde Park in London; it became a world force financed by the resources of a government.

Having established itself in Russia, it retained most of the institutions of Czarist Russia, namely, autocracy, the centralization of government in an individual, the supreme power of the state over the life of the individual, the revival of serfdom, particularly in agriculture and of slave labor in camps designated for the purpose. But worst of all, it took over the Okhrana, the terrifying secret police which reduces the human being to a frightened, anxious creature. The Okhrana first became the Cheka, then the OGPU, then the NKVD, now the MVD. The name changes; the institution remains the same.

In the czarist autocracy, the czar, "The Little Father," as he was called, was not only the civil but the religious ruler of his people. He held his throne by divine right and regarded himself as the vicar in Russia of God. Lenin, as a materialist, could not adopt this role, so he deified Karl Marx and became his prophet. Henceforth, the basic emotional and intellectual concepts of Russia were to be called Marxism-Leninism.

Stalin was not so modest. He deified himself and required obeisance as to an oriental potentate. He became the state, the church, the conscience of the people. He styled himself the world's greatest genius in all fields. And the day after he died, his name was erased from memory. But Lenin still lives on, the embodiment of Bolshevism.

Fifty years is not a long period in history nor even in the existence of a political party. In a review of the 50th Anniversary issued by the Propaganda and Agitation Department and the Marx-Engels-Lenin-Stalin Institute, this appears:

"Our party is the only party in the country. It undividedly exercises the leading role in Soviet society. Leadership by the Communist Party is the decisive condition for the firmness and unshakeability of the Soviet system and for all the successes of our people. . . ."

In fact, the party is put ahead of the country. It is supreme. In another part of this review of party history appears:

"The whole course of the half-century history of the Communist Party of the Soviet Union has shown the immense importance of the principles of party leadership and norms of party life worked out by Lenin. The party teaches that it is imperatively necessary to carry out these laws of party organization, strictly to adhere to the supreme principle of party leadership, namely, collective leadership, and to the requirements of the Party Rules. . . ."

Those who question the dicta of the party are killed. This emphasis on rigid orthodoxy has produced a reactionary, autocratic, brutal resurrection of orientalism—a return to the world of Genghis Khan, to autocracy and the reduction of man to a thing.

Along this same line, should more information be given on Russian atomic bomb capabilities, so that the American people will know what to expect in case of a surprise atomic attack?

This particular point has nothing to do with changing the U. S. atomic energy law. It will be a determination for the President and the National Security Council to make on revealing U. S. intelligence reports. President Eisenhower's committee on psychological warfare headed by William H. Jackson, has just recommended that this be done.

Should Reveal A-Strength?

There has been some expression of opinion that the U. S. should reveal its own atomic strength. The idea behind this is that such disclosure might deter an enemy from trying to make any atomic attack on the free world countries.

This is not taken to mean that the U. S. should disclose the size of its atomic bomb stockpile, nor bomb production rate. Gordon Dean, former chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, says that the "order of magnitude" of U. S. atomic power might be disclosed without mentioning any numbers of bombs. This could be done by citing the number of cities that could be destroyed in one attack.

In planning for any international defenses against sudden atomic attack, the question of furnishing our allies with information about atomic weapons is most important.

In 1951 Congress amended the atomic energy act to authorize specific agreements to exchange information on the production of fissionable materials with allied foreign powers. Giving restricted data on the design and manufacture of atomic weapons was, however, banned.

The amendment said further that no information could be given a foreign government unless the President had received a written recommendation from the National Security Council. Even then the information can be given by the Atomic Energy Commission only after 30 days' notice has been given to the Congressional Joint Atomic Energy Committee while Congress is in session. From the point of view of planning an adequate European defense, this is considered by some military authorities as too cumbersome a restriction.

There is, finally, the question of making more data available to private industry for the production of atomic power. This is considered a real necessity if there is to be the fullest possible development of this new source of energy for peacetime uses. Congress now has this question, but may not act this year.

Split Among Democrats Is Termed Matter of Basic Principle

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Sept. 1—Northern Democrats apparently have learned very little since November 1952 or they would not be asking the Southern Democrats to forget or surrender the fundamentals which have estranged them from the Democratic party.

As the meeting of the Democratic National Committee in Chicago approaches, there is much talk directed at the Southerners, telling them to "come in and bury the hatchet" or "to unite for victory"—just as if nothing had happened. Much of the talk emanating from Northern leaders resembles the tactics of certain negotiators on the international scene. They call for "peace offensives" but, when their proposals are analyzed, it is discovered they mean peace only on their own terms.

The friction between the two wings of the Democratic party is too deep-seated to be cured by exhortation. The first step toward harmony is to begin to understand that the Southern Democrats are conscientious in their adherence to certain principles and that, if the Northern Democrats want to make peace, they will have to exhibit a tolerance which they have not manifested in party councils for many years.

The Southern Democrats look askance, for instance, at the way the Northern faction has become the tool and instrument of "radicalism." This term is often rejected by the Northern Democrats, who say their creed is really "liberalism." To this the Southerners reply that any program which is based on compulsion and coercion instead of voluntarism is not true liberalism but something approximating totalitarianism.

The clash arises, of course, out of the effort of the Northern "liberals" to ram down the throats of the Southerners a compulsory F.E.P.C. — a piece of legislation that would empower a Federal government commission to tell an employer whom he shall hire as employes. Nor have the Southern Democrats ever swallowed the coercive features of collective bargaining which were originally introduced in the Wagner labor relations act. The feeling against Trumanism and the New Deal and Fair Deal philosophy of government is so ingrained that it cannot be eradicated by a continuance of the bellicose attitude exhibited by Northern Democrats at the party's national convention in Chicago last year.

The argument over the so-called "loyalty" pledge need not be a barrier to party harmony. Loyalty to the ticket is taken for granted in party politics, but the young "liberals" who made an issue of it at the last convention insulted the Southerners and unless that "loyalty" resolution is wiped out of the records at the Democratic National Committee's meeting in Chicago on Sept. 14-15, the chances of healing the breach on other issues is lessened.

Every individual feels that he has the right to vote as he pleases in a Presidential election, even if he attends a party convention as a delegate. He would not be justified, of course, in using the party machinery locally in an election to oppose the choice of the national convention of his party, but he has a right to the expression of his own views at any time. To say to a member of the Democratic party—the party which prides itself on individual freedom and tolerance—that he must, even before knowing the platform or the identity of the candidates, pledge himself blindly as an individual to support the unknown is to violate the tradition of independence which Democrats have always cherished.

It is precisely the threat that a minority of delegates may bolt the party as individuals in a single election which makes it necessary for the majority to keep faith with party tradition in whatever it does. To interject a program of compulsion or to propose that freedom of contract be abolished in America is to espouse a fundamental philosophy alien to the Democratic party—at least, so the southerners feel.

When the Northern Democrats cease to toady to pressure groups which are hostile to the South and begin to perceive that reforms can be more quickly achieved by voluntary methods, the "civil rights" issue will no longer split the Democratic party. If the Northerners really want peace, they might better start studying the basic issues that have caused the cleavage and come up with some proposals on that score rather than expect the Southern Democrats to come crawling back into the party in abject surrender. For the South today holds the balance of political power in America and its support cannot be won by assuming it is impotent or merely recalcitrant. The basic issues are still unsolved.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Vincent Langan, a New York traffic policeman, ran some risk of "investigation" by the FBI and indictment by a federal grand jury for killing "Snakes" Ryan, an habitual criminal and jail-breaked who had just murdered a crooked union boss of the old Scalise racket named Thomas F. Lewis. The streets were crowded, the gunman, armed with a .45 automatic, took cover behind some baby carriages at one point and Patrolman Langan had to make a quick arbitrary decision whether he would risk punishment for violating the civil rights of a member of some political minority in shooting him. He took that chance and the more dangerous risk of death as the gunman fired away in a chase and finally killed his man after pausing once to reload.

Lewis was a notorious crook in control of a rotten racket of the AF of L, but, for some reason, had decided to saw off a shakedown which was being operated against the Yonkers Trotting Track by the brothers Lynch, Jimmy and La-La, or Lawrence. All the trotting tracks have been falling under various AF of L rackets in recent years and Congressman Clare Hoffman, of Michigan, was just beginning to pry into this when some of his lazy and jealous Republican colleagues decided that he was getting too much favorable publicity and used a parliamentary trick to suspend his activities for the summer.

Actually, the Building Service Workers' Union, the old Scalise-Capone racket, has no more jurisdiction over trotting parks than the milliners but these rackets claim jurisdiction by right of discovery or conquest. The alert building service extortioners have muscled into many such horse parks. Incidentally, harness racing itself has almost fallen to the level of wrestling and is now no better than the unions which prey upon it. The genuine horsemen, a tricky lot at best but of the non-violent David Harum school, have little to say about their sport. Harness racing has gone nocturnal and things now happen in the dark under the unions which never were thought of in daylight.

La-La Lynch was carried on the payroll of the Yonkers layout at $2,000 a month as troubleshooter. His brother, Jimmy, was the business agent of Local 32-E of the Building Service racket, assigned to the track. La-La's duty was to keep the track out of "labor" jams with his brother's own union.

Lewis broke up the play, ordering the track to fire La-La.

An automobile seemed to lurk on the outskirts of the shooting and Patrolman Langan memorized the license number. It was traced to an employe of the track. Langan finally had had to stand over "snakes" Ryan and pump bullets into him as he lay wounded on the sidewalk. Ryan had played dead, thus drawing the policeman unwarily close, and then had taken one more shot with his .45. After that Langan took no chances.

Deputy Chief Inspector Byrne said his conduct was fine police work. However, two of Tom Dewey's old assistants from his days in the district attorney's office became high dignitaries of Local 32-B which is the most prosperous local, financially, and the most powerful in the whole system, so civil rights might be involved here. One was Aaron Benenson, the other was Victor J. Horwitz. Mr. Horwitz has since severed his connection with the union. After they had helped Tom Dewey smash the old Scalise-Capone racket, they were hired to keep evil personalities at bay. They had not done much field work in the task of rooting out the Scalise-Capone mob but in the legal fight they were diligent and, under Dewey's leadership in court, got results. Scalise went to prison for three consecutive terms and Mr. Benenson moved in as the controlling influence in 32-B. There were some who hoisted an eyebrow at this, but Dewey said he had given Benenson and Horwitz his blessing. Some members of 32-B grumbled that Benenson was getting $25,000 a year, virtually for life, and a law-suit filed against Horwitz ten years ago alleged that he was getting $40,000 a year.

A slick-paper publication issued by 32-B showed still another attorney for 32-B, by name Harold Israelson. The humble window-washers, chambermaids, cleaning maids and janitors of New York were doing very well by their lawyers but were not al-

Route 28 Detour Opens; Signals Work on Bridge

Opening of the detour along Route 28 in the area of thruway construction west of the city signals an early start of the bridge to bring the mountain route over the express highway, it was learned today.

The detour strip, extending from a point near the intersection of the Sawkill road to a point opposite the VanKleeck farm, was opened at about noon yesterday.

A spokesman for A. E. Ottaviano Inc., of Croton, contractor for the Kingston-Whiteport section and for the interchange system, assisted by the Brewster Construction Co., said work should start within the next few days on the grading for the grade-separation project.

A section of the concrete on Route 28 will be dug up in preparation for the grading of that road over the thruway and some excavation will be necessary to bring the express highway under the present grade of the mountain route.

The work of tearing up the pavement and excavation will be done by Brewster.

From what can be determined at this time, the spokesman said, it is planned to complete the paving of the section of the interchange that will lead from Route 28 to the toll booth and as much of the bridge work as possible before cold weather.

Test drills will be necessary in the area where the grade separation is to be built, and it is expected that much of the grading will be completed before footing for the bridge will be sunk.

Weather Balloon Found Near Dam

A weather balloon about 25 feet high and about 22 feet in top circumference was found in the area of the dam and dividing wier along the west basin of the Ashokan reservoir yesterday afternoon.

The sheriff's office and the police of the New York city water department were notified and went to the scene. Sgt. Vincent Eckert and Cpl. Robert Grennie of the BWS police inspected the balloon, which was brought to the sheriff's office by Anthony Alecca, of that department.

Sent to Stewart Field

The sheriff's office notified Stewart Field at Newburgh and it was taken there today.

Undersheriff Clayton Vredenburgh said the sheriff's office was first notified at 2 p. m., by Paul Joyce from Shokan that the balloon had gone down near the reservoir. It was found by George Arrance, Joseph Stenson and William Kennock, of Kingston, the sheriff's report said.

The BWS police said the balloon bore the name of Linzen Research Inc., of Fleming Field, Minn., from where it apparently had been sent aloft.

Cragsmoor Fire Is Under Control

State police at Ellenville today reported that a forest fire, which apparently started Monday afternoon, was still burning in the Cragsmoor area of the Shawangunk Mountains today but that it was under control.

Sgt. William Martin of the Ellenville station said that the fire was burning over an estimated 500 acres.

Another report out of Newburgh Tuesday indicated that a serious fire was still underway at Sam's Point, also in the Cragsmoor area. The fire, which covered about 100 acres, was said to be headed toward Walker Valley.

New Threat Reported

Toronto, Sept. 2 (AP) — Firefighters battling more than 100 fires across northern Ontario's rich timberlands faced a new threat last night and early today as winds ranging up to 30 miles an hour fanned the flames. Although the situation took a serious turn along the 1,200-mile front from Manitoba to Quebec, the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests hoped the fighters could get all the fires under control. The 1,300 men fighting the blazes need rain to help them, but only scattered showers were predicted for today.

Truman to Get $8,000

New York, Sept. 2 (AP)—Variety, the entertainment industry trade paper, reported today that former President Harry S. Truman will make his first commercial television appearance Sept. 20 for about $8,000. The report said he will appear on "Excursion," a Ford Foundation program over NBC aimed at younger folk, to discuss opportunities in America and the Point 4 program to aid underdeveloped nations. Truman's 10-minute talk is to originate from his office in Kansas City.

Financial and Commercial

By RADER WINGET

New York, Sept. 2 (AP) — The stock market extended its recovery movement today into a second session.

Yesterday's upturn continued today with gains that ran to between 1 and 3 points at the outside. Losses were small and scattered.

The rising prices failed to bring out any great demand. Trading was at a pace a little greater than a million shares for the entire day.

Rilroads displayed some of the better gains. Also higher were steels, motors, utilities, oils, coppers, chemicals, aircrafts, and radio-televisions.

The market was higher right at the start. Trading was swift for a few minutes while overnight orders were executed, then the tape stopped dead in its tracks. In the second hour there was a mild buying flurry that pushed prices up a little more.

Veterans Are Placed

Washington, Sept. 2 (AP)—Over 1½ million veterans were placed in jobs through the Federal-State Employment Service during the year prior to June 30. In announcing this today, the Labor Department said the figure represents an increase of 96,000 over the previous year. More than 150,000 of the job placements were for Korean veterans.

Truck Brakes Are Blamed for Crash With Three Autos

Three cars and a 1952 truck, all proceeding north on Broadway, were involved in a collision at 7:45 p. m., Tuesday near the St. James street intersection, police reported.

According to police, the truck, owned by M. A. Henry, Ltd., of Dundas in Ontario, Canada, operated by Jan Van Schaik, 33, of 227 Melville street, Dundas, struck the rear of the car ahead and forced it into a second car which, in turn, struck a third car, as they were coming to a stop at the intersection.

Police said the driver told them his brakes snapped when he applied them to stop.

Mrs. Fred Brown, 26, of RFD 1, Box 137, Kingston, suffered shock, police said, and Paula Brown, two years old, of the same address, was "shaken up." They were treated by a private physician.

Chicago Car Struck

Mrs. Brown and the child were passengers in a car operated by Fred F. Brown, 30, of 1516 East 63rd street, Chicago, Ill. This car was struck by the truck, police said. The Brown car struck the car ahead, a 1950 sedan operated by Edward J. Schupp, 34, of 19 Adams street, and the Schupp vehicle ran into a 1953 sport coupe operated by Joyce Wall, 25, of 22 Dunneman avenue, according to police.

The truck received a damaged front bumper, the Brown car a damaged trunk, right rear fender, left front fender and grill, the Schupp car a damaged rear bumper and right rear tail light and the Wall vehicle a damaged rear bumper, according to Officers William Slover and Floyd Krom who investigated.

fessed" to germ warfare were awaiting repatriation at Kaesong.

Whiteside said the 75 made and signed statements that they dropped germs on North Korea. The UN Command repeatedly has denied the charges.

175 Await Return

He said another 175 officers also were at Kaesong waiting to be sent back.

Sgt. 1. C. Harry W. Rolison of Bayboro, N. C., said 14 Americans held on trumped up charges "were called into a special hearing at Kaesong two days ago and told that their sentences had been commuted and that they would be repatriated."

Army authorities said "Slick" had been absent without leave for five days and military police had been ordered to arrest him.

"Slick" originally had been scheduled to leave for the U. S. on a troopship from Inchon after his repatriation, but he reportedly was warned that other prisoners had vowed vengeance.

He asked to see an army chaplain. The chaplain called in medical officers and "Slick" was sent to the Tokyo Hospital.

Some Americans imprisoned with him for two years said "Slick" sold out to the Communists for better treatment by informing on fellow POWs.

The UN Command statement accusing the Reds of "rigging" interviews was issued by the Allied Military Armistice Commission and possibly will serve as the basis for an official protest to Communist members of the commission.

Allies Ask Reds

Germany and Austria received during August.

The call for four power talks comes only four days before West Germany goes to the polls in a vital general election.

The Russian proposals on Germany were generally interpreted by western diplomats as designed in part to influence voting in the West German elections against the parties behind Chancellor Konrad Adenauer.

As for Austria, the Russians last weekend turned down an invitation to sit in on a lower-level conference of four power deputy foreign ministers to draft a treaty.

Route 28 Detour Opens; Signals Work on Bridge

Opening of the detour along Route 28 in the area of thruway construction west of the city signals an early start of the bridge to bring the mountain route over the express highway, it was learned today.

The detour strip, extending from a point near the intersection of the Sawkill road to a point opposite the VanKleeck farm, was opened at about noon yesterday.

A spokesman for A. E. Ottaviano Inc., of Croton, contractor for the Kingston-Whiteport section and for the interchange system, assisted by the Brewster Construction Co., said work should start within the next few days on the grading for the grade-separation project.

A section of the concrete on Route 28 will be dug up in preparation for the grading of that road over the thruway and some excavation will be necessary to bring the express highway under the present grade of the mountain route.

The work of tearing up the pavement and excavation will be done by Brewster.

From what can be determined at this time, the spokesman said, it is planned to complete the paving of the section of the interchange that will lead from Route 28 to the toll booth and as much of the bridge work as possible before cold weather.

Test drills will be necessary in the area where the grade separation is to be built, and it is expected that much of the grading will be completed before footing for the bridge will be sunk.

Weather Balloon Found Near Dam

A weather balloon about 25 feet high and about 22 feet in top circumference was found in the area of the dam and dividing wier along the west basin of the Ashokan reservoir yesterday afternoon.

The sheriff's office and the police of the New York city water department were notified and went to the scene. Sgt. Vincent Eckert and Cpl. Robert Grennie of the BWS police inspected the balloon, which was brought to the sheriff's office by Anthony Alecca, of that department.

Sent to Stewart Field

The sheriff's office notified Stewart Field at Newburgh and it was taken there today.

Undersheriff Clayton Vredenburgh said the sheriff's office was first notified at 2 p. m., by Paul Joyce from Shokan that the balloon had gone down near the reservoir. It was found by George Arrance, Joseph Stenson and William Kennock, of Kingston, the sheriff's report said.

The BWS police said the balloon bore the name of Linzen Research Inc., of Fleming Field, Minn., from where it apparently had been sent aloft.

Cragsmoor Fire Is Under Control

State police at Ellenville today reported that a forest fire, which apparently started Monday afternoon, was still burning in the Cragsmoor area of the Shawangunk Mountains today but that it was under control.

Sgt. William Martin of the Ellenville station said that the fire was burning over an estimated 500 acres.

Another report out of Newburgh Tuesday indicated that a serious fire was still underway at Sam's Point, also in the Cragsmoor area. The fire, which covered about 100 acres, was said to be headed toward Walker Valley.

New Threat Reported

Toronto, Sept. 2 (AP) — Firefighters battling more than 100 fires across northern Ontario's rich timberlands faced a new threat last night and early today as winds ranging up to 30 miles an hour fanned the flames. Although the situation took a serious turn along the 1,200-mile front from Manitoba to Quebec, the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests hoped the fighters could get all the fires under control. The 1,300 men fighting the blazes need rain to help them, but only scattered showers were predicted for today.

Truman to Get $8,000

New York, Sept. 2 (AP)—Variety, the entertainment industry trade paper, reported today that former President Harry S. Truman will make his first commercial television appearance Sept. 20 for about $8,000. The report said he will appear on "Excursion," a Ford Foundation program over NBC aimed at younger folk, to discuss opportunities in America and the Point 4 program to aid underdeveloped nations. Truman's 10-minute talk is to originate from his office in Kansas City.

Financial and Commercial

By RADER WINGET

New York, Sept. 2 (AP) — The stock market extended its recovery movement today into a second session.

Yesterday's upturn continued today with gains that ran to between 1 and 3 points at the outside. Losses were small and scattered.

The rising prices failed to bring out any great demand. Trading was at a pace a little greater than a million shares for the entire day.

Rilroads displayed some of the better gains. Also higher were steels, motors, utilities, oils, coppers, chemicals, aircrafts, and radio-televisions.

The market was higher right at the start. Trading was swift for a few minutes while overnight orders were executed, then the tape stopped dead in its tracks. In the second hour there was a mild buying flurry that pushed prices up a little more.

According to police, the truck, owned by M. A. Henry, Ltd., of Dundas in Ontario, Canada, operated by Jan Van Schaik, 33, of 227 Melville street, Dundas, struck the rear of the car ahead and forced it into a second car which, in turn, struck a third car, as they were coming to a stop at the intersection.

Police said the driver told them his brakes snapped when he applied them to stop.

Mrs. Fred Brown, 26, of RFD 1, Box 137, Kingston, suffered shock, police said, and Paula Brown, two years old, of the same address, was "shaken up." They were treated by a private physician.

The Brown car struck the car ahead, a 1950 sedan operated by Edward J. Schupp, 34, of 19 Adams street, and the Schupp vehicle ran into a 1953 sport coupe operated by Joyce Wall, 25, of 22 Dunneman avenue, according to police.

The truck received a damaged front bumper, the Brown car a damaged trunk, right rear fender, left front fender and grill, the Schupp car a damaged rear bumper and right rear tail light and the Wall vehicle a damaged rear bumper, according to Officers William Slover and Floyd Krom who investigated.

Whiteside said the 75 made and signed statements that they dropped germs on North Korea. The UN Command repeatedly has denied the charges.

175 Await Return

He said another 175 officers also were at Kaesong waiting to be sent back.

Sgt. 1. C. Harry W. Rolison of Bayboro, N. C., said 14 Americans held on trumped up charges "were called into a special hearing at Kaesong two days ago and told that their sentences had been commuted and that they would be repatriated."

Army authorities said "Slick" had been absent without leave for five days and military police had been ordered to arrest him.

"Slick" originally had been scheduled to leave for the U. S. on a troopship from Inchon after his repatriation, but he reportedly was warned that other prisoners had vowed vengeance.

He asked to see an army chaplain. The chaplain called in medical officers and "Slick" was sent to the Tokyo Hospital.

Some Americans imprisoned with him for two years said "Slick" sold out to the Communists for better treatment by informing on fellow POWs.

The UN Command statement accusing the Reds of "rigging" interviews was issued by the Allied Military Armistice Commission and possibly will serve as the basis for an official protest to Communist members of the commission.

Germany and Austria received during August.

The call for four power talks comes only four days before West Germany goes to the polls in a vital general election.

The Russian proposals on Germany were generally interpreted by western diplomats as designed in part to influence voting in the West German elections against the parties behind Chancellor Konrad Adenauer.

As for Austria, the Russians last weekend turned down an invitation to sit in on a lower-level conference of four power deputy foreign ministers to draft a treaty.

Miami, Fla., Sept. 2 (AP)—Hurricane Carol churned distant Atlantic waters today 2,400 miles east southeast of Miami and at least a week's travel time from the United States mainland. This third tropical storm of the season was spotted on the first day of the traditional hurricane month of September.

Anyone interested in securing one of the apartments which will become available this month may make application at the manager's office at the project site office on Flatbush avenue.

When the project is completely occupied there will be a total of 98 families.

Play Area Being Built

While the actual construction of the buildings at Colonial Gardens will be completed by September 15, Davis said that the landscaping which is in progress at the present time will not be completed at that time. Play areas for small children are also under construction at present and will be completed shortly.

To date the population of Colonial Gardens has been increased by the birth of two children, a girl, born to Mr. and Mrs. John Terwilliger on August 15, and a boy born to Mr. and Mrs. John Nacarato on August 20.

As Pegler Sees It

together pleased with the chummy relationship between these lawyers and the union bosses. These included William McFetridge, a dressy figure who was one of the hierarchy under Scalise and kept his mouth shut even while others were trying to rescue the faceless men and the city of New York from the clutches of the racket. They also included as holdovers some of the dirtiest, if less conspicuous, underworld parasites on labor.

It is not ironic but sweetly significant that the new bosses of the old Scalise-Capone union continued to maintain jovial social relations and cordial official cooperation with the dignitaries of the Moving Picture and Stage Employes' Union from which Browne-and-Bioff, also stooges for the Capone mob, had just been removed by initiative journalism. Richard Walsh, a flabby bureaucrat who had kept as mum as McFetridge and taken his pay from his corrupt masters during the years of the mob control, became president of this one. As such he has been an honored guest at the Galas of 32-B, and posed for pictures with McFetridge. In 1948, when Tom Dewey was campaigning against Truman, he gave McFetridge a position of special honor on his train as he entered Chicago, thereby disgusting a great many citizens who knew of McFetridge's meek demeanor under the mob.

Now Dewey's old campaign manager, Herb Brownell, is attorney general and is needling the FBI to harass New York cops for using force to arrest the routine types of wild men and females that a cop encounters in the run of his job. Some cops, especially detectives, who look like civilians, are ducking around corners rather than be hauled before the federal grand jury for slapping some cut-throat's face.

Lewis was, in round numbers, a rat in the old Scalise tradition. The fact that he continued on in command of 32-E is a commentary on the great reform wrought by silent McFetridge.

Lewis had been arrested for rape, killing with an automobile, conspiracy and, twice, for assault. He beat all five raps but he was notorious as a brutal tyrant. McFetridge let him keep his job notwithstanding the fact that he got his original appointment from Scalise.

Asks Revised Thinking

Washington, Sept. 2 (AP)—Sen. Bridges (R.-N.H.) called today for adoption of a revised concept of American military security, based primarily on Russia's claimed possession of the hydrogen bomb. Bridges, who heads the Senate Appropriations Committee and is a member of the Armed Services Committee, said in an interview that present military policies should be reexamined thoroughly to determine if they are outmoded by developments.

Council Resolution Seeks . . .

for the conserving of the beauty spots with enterprise, whenever possible?"

Schaffer Promises Cooperation

Schaffer, whose office is in Schenectady, in a reply dated May 28, said, "The effort to preserve the beauty of your city is commendable and deserving of support whenever possible. The plans for the shopping center are not as yet final. They will depend on the results of several propositions now under negotiation. However, every reasonable effort will be made to cooperate, subject, of course, to the necessities for progressive commercial development."

In its resolution the Council stated it realized the importance of commercial development in the city and stood ready to offer its support to such development. It pointed out further that one of the city's main attractions has been in the Academy Green section with its homes and stately trees.

Two Address Council

Those addressing the Council in support of the action to restore and preserve the city's trees were Gruver and N. Jansen Fowler, Kingston attorney, who is president of the Kiwanis Club.

Both recommended Council study of a program which would include the establishment of a special commission for the preservation of shade trees. Such commissions have been set up in many progressive communities.

Gruver called attention to the heritage of natural beauty enjoyed by the citizens of Kingston and Ulster county.

"With this heritage of trees, natural resources and history," he said, "we must do something to preserve it."

Tendency Is Deplored

He deplored what he described as a tendency in modern life to tear down old trees and landmarks with callous lack of consideration for their aesthetic importance and significance in local history and tradition.

He pointed out that trees not only please the eye but "preserve moisture and keep us cool."

"A man who moves into an area and pulls down trees is like a man who puts up a building without a roof," he said. He called attention to the economic value of shade, pointing out that during the hot summer months many housewives will shop in a store with shade trees, because they keep the parked car from heating up like an oven.

Fowler Hits Destruction

Fowler expressed dissatisfaction with recent destruction of shade trees in the Academy Green section, pointing out that the trees were preserved for posterity by the forebears of Kingston citizens and that the trees should be handed on to their children in their full beauty.

He said four or five handsome trees just inside the curb line on property adjacent to the Empire Market had been removed without BPW permission and should be restored.

"The citizens will be 100 per cent back of you in your effort to retain shade trees in the city of Kingston," he assured members of the Council.

Recommends Program

He recommended study of a "long-range program" for the preservation of city trees and asked the Council to study the possibility of establishing a shade tree commission.

A separate letter addressed to the Council by Mrs. Chadbourne urged members "to join in our efforts to preserve the beauties of Kingston."

"Here we have a fine city ennobled by magnificient shade trees. These are part of our real heritage evoking the warmest admiration from visitors who come from all over the country.

"These fine gifts of nature may be considered some of our vital assets which attract the traveling public, just as much as the wares in our shops.

Conscious of Need

"We are conscious of the need for progressive commercial development, but let us in this community show civic pride by helping to conserve and protect the shade trees from deterioration and destruction, for they are our living treasures."

Among those welcomed to the session by Acting Mayor Joseph Kelly, alderman-at-large and presiding officer of the Council, were Mrs. Chadbourne, donor of the statues in Academy Green Park, who has done much to beautify the city; Mrs. Howard Lewis, president of the Ulster County Garden Club; Albert Kurdt, executive secretary of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce; Lawrence A. MacAvery, a member of the city planning commission and past president of the Chamber of Commerce; Larry Bogert, president of Rotary Club; Myron Teller, retired Kingston architect; Mrs. Arthur Sheldon, Miss Helen Sheldon, Miss Agnes Scott Smith, Mrs. William Hasbrouck, president of the Ulster County Historical Society; Miss Louise Heron, Miss Emily Rice and G. A. McCorkle of Stone Ridge.

Council Appropriates $6,400 and could be heard at a greater distance.

The air horns will be installed in the same towers in which the bells are now located, under the present plan.

Chief Murphy proposed two months ago that one of the bells be mounted somewhere in the city "as a kind of monument to the volunteer firemen of the city of Kingston."

New Statute . . .

plies at all three entrances to the ground floor.

Also referred to traffic control committee for study was a letter from Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Krause of 112 TenBroeck avenue asking for a no parking sign in front of the house or on TenBroeck avenue opposite the knitting mill and its parking lot. They pointed out that space in front of their house was taken by mill employes who often parked in such a manner that it was difficult to get a car in and out of the driveway.

Council amended the traffic code to provide for the erection of stop signs at the intersection of Finnegan Place and Cedar street, Walnut and Abruyn streets and Moore street and First avenue and for the prohibition of parking at 46 Pine Grove avenue between 7 a. m. and 5 p. m.

R. A. Hearst Retires

New York, Sept. 2 (AP) — The Hearst organization today announced the retirement of Randolph A. Hearst as publisher of the San Francisco Call-Bulletin to devote his time to other duties. Effective today, Hearst is being succeeded by Leo Ihle, the newspaper's business manager.

The announcement, by J. D. Gortatowsky, general manager of Hearst Newspapers, said Hearst will concentrate on his duties as president of the Hearst Publishing Co., and assistant manager of the Hearst newspapers.

were kept busy with other sewer cave-ins, a major one on Broadway between Delaware avenue and Chestnut street along the main route traversed by traffic passing through the city on weekends.

City workmen repaired one break on Greenkill avenue, and another in the same vicinity, near Clinton avenue, was fixed by James Berardi, a contractor who bid in the emergency job to relieve the strain on department of public works crews who were busy in other sections of the city.

Main Traffic Artery

Steuding said that Albany avenue had first priority because of its importance as a main artery leading into the city, and in anticipation of heavy holiday traffic.

Andrew street was next because of its proximity to the Benedictine Hospital as an ambulance route.

All efforts will be directed to lower Delaware avenue next week according to Steuding, who said he hoped for clear sailing and that no emergencies would crop up.

Reports Bike Accident

Vernon Brodhead of 27 St. Mary's street reported to police that shortly before 7 p. m. yesterday as he was driving his 1953 sedan west on West Union street Kenneth Peck, 23, of 37 Jansen avenue, riding a bicycle south on Wurts street, ran into the side of his car. He told police that Peck's right arm had been hurt below the elbow.

While the actual construction of the buildings at Colonial Gardens will be completed by September 15, Davis said that the landscaping which is in progress at the present time will not be completed at that time. Play areas for small children are also under construction at present and will be completed shortly.

To date the population of Colonial Gardens has been increased by the birth of two children, a girl, born to Mr. and Mrs. John Terwilliger on August 15, and a boy born to Mr. and Mrs. John Nacarato on August 20.

As Pegler Sees It

together pleased with the chummy relationship between these lawyers and the union bosses. These included William McFetridge, a dressy figure who was one of the hierarchy under Scalise and kept his mouth shut even while others were trying to rescue the faceless men and the city of New York from the clutches of the racket. They also included as holdovers some of the dirtiest, if less conspicuous, underworld parasites on labor.

It is not ironic but sweetly significant that the new bosses of the old Scalise-Capone union continued to maintain jovial social relations and cordial official cooperation with the dignitaries of the Moving Picture and Stage Employes' Union from which Browne-and-Bioff, also stooges for the Capone mob, had just been removed by initiative journalism. Richard Walsh, a flabby bureaucrat who had kept as mum as McFetridge and taken his pay from his corrupt masters during the years of the mob control, became president of this one. As such he has been an honored guest at the Galas of 32-B, and posed for pictures with McFetridge. In 1948, when Tom Dewey was campaigning against Truman, he gave McFetridge a position of special honor on his train as he entered Chicago, thereby disgusting a great many citizens who knew of McFetridge's meek demeanor under the mob.

Now Dewey's old campaign manager, Herb Brownell, is attorney general and is needling the FBI to harass New York cops for using force to arrest the routine types of wild men and females that a cop encounters in the run of his job. Some cops, especially detectives, who look like civilians, are ducking around corners rather than be hauled before the federal grand jury for slapping some cut-throat's face.

Lewis was, in round numbers, a rat in the old Scalise tradition. The fact that he continued on in command of 32-E is a commentary on the great reform wrought by silent McFetridge.

Lewis had been arrested for rape, killing with an automobile, conspiracy and, twice, for assault. He beat all five raps but he was notorious as a brutal tyrant. McFetridge let him keep his job notwithstanding the fact that he got his original appointment from Scalise.

Asks Revised Thinking

Washington, Sept. 2 (AP)—Sen. Bridges (R.-N.H.) called today for adoption of a revised concept of American military security, based primarily on Russia's claimed possession of the hydrogen bomb. Bridges, who heads the Senate Appropriations Committee and is a member of the Armed Services Committee, said in an interview that present military policies should be reexamined thoroughly to determine if they are outmoded by developments.

Council Resolution Seeks . . .

for the conserving of the beauty spots with enterprise, whenever possible?"

Schaffer Promises Cooperation

Schaffer, whose office is in Schenectady, in a reply dated May 28, said, "The effort to preserve the beauty of your city is commendable and deserving of support whenever possible. The plans for the shopping center are not as yet final. They will depend on the results of several propositions now under negotiation. However, every reasonable effort will be made to cooperate, subject, of course, to the necessities for progressive commercial development."

In its resolution the Council stated it realized the importance of commercial development in the city and stood ready to offer its support to such development. It pointed out further that one of the city's main attractions has been in the Academy Green section with its homes and stately trees.

Two Address Council

Those addressing the Council in support of the action to restore and preserve the city's trees were Gruver and N. Jansen Fowler, Kingston attorney, who is president of the Kiwanis Club.

Both recommended Council study of a program which would include the establishment of a special commission for the preservation of shade trees. Such commissions have been set up in many progressive communities.

Gruver called attention to the heritage of natural beauty enjoyed by the citizens of Kingston and Ulster county.

"With this heritage of trees, natural resources and history," he said, "we must do something to preserve it."

Tendency Is Deplored

He deplored what he described as a tendency in modern life to tear down old trees and landmarks with callous lack of consideration for their aesthetic importance and significance in local history and tradition.

He pointed out that trees not only please the eye but "preserve moisture and keep us cool."

"A man who moves into an area and pulls down trees is like a man who puts up a building without a roof," he said. He called attention to the economic value of shade, pointing out that during the hot summer months many housewives will shop in a store with shade trees, because they keep the parked car from heating up like an oven.

Fowler Hits Destruction

Fowler expressed dissatisfaction with recent destruction of shade trees in the Academy Green section, pointing out that the trees were preserved for posterity by the forebears of Kingston citizens and that the trees should be handed on to their children in their full beauty.

He said four or five handsome trees just inside the curb line on property adjacent to the Empire Market had been removed without BPW permission and should be restored.

"The citizens will be 100 per cent back of you in your effort to retain shade trees in the city of Kingston," he assured members of the Council.

Recommends Program

He recommended study of a "long-range program" for the preservation of city trees and asked the Council to study the possibility of establishing a shade tree commission.

A separate letter addressed to the Council by Mrs. Chadbourne urged members "to join in our efforts to preserve the beauties of Kingston."

"Here we have a fine city ennobled by magnificient shade trees. These are part of our real heritage evoking the warmest admiration from visitors who come from all over the country.

"These fine gifts of nature may be considered some of our vital assets which attract the traveling public, just as much as the wares in our shops.

Conscious of Need

"We are conscious of the need for progressive commercial development, but let us in this community show civic pride by helping to conserve and protect the shade trees from deterioration and destruction, for they are our living treasures."

Among those welcomed to the session by Acting Mayor Joseph Kelly, alderman-at-large and presiding officer of the Council, were Mrs. Chadbourne, donor of the statues in Academy Green Park, who has done much to beautify the city; Mrs. Howard Lewis, president of the Ulster County Garden Club; Albert Kurdt, executive secretary of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce; Lawrence A. MacAvery, a member of the city planning commission and past president of the Chamber of Commerce; Larry Bogert, president of Rotary Club; Myron Teller, retired Kingston architect; Mrs. Arthur Sheldon, Miss Helen Sheldon, Miss Agnes Scott Smith, Mrs. William Hasbrouck, president of the Ulster County Historical Society; Miss Louise Heron, Miss Emily Rice and G. A. McCorkle of Stone Ridge.

The air horns will be installed in the same towers in which the bells are now located, under the present plan.

Chief Murphy proposed two months ago that one of the bells be mounted somewhere in the city "as a kind of monument to the volunteer firemen of the city of Kingston."

Also referred to traffic control committee for study was a letter from Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Krause of 112 TenBroeck avenue asking for a no parking sign in front of the house or on TenBroeck avenue opposite the knitting mill and its parking lot. They pointed out that space in front of their house was taken by mill employes who often parked in such a manner that it was difficult to get a car in and out of the driveway.

Council amended the traffic code to provide for the erection of stop signs at the intersection of Finnegan Place and Cedar street, Walnut and Abruyn streets and Moore street and First avenue and for the prohibition of parking at 46 Pine Grove avenue between 7 a. m. and 5 p. m.

R. A. Hearst Retires

New York, Sept. 2 (AP) — The Hearst organization today announced the retirement of Randolph A. Hearst as publisher of the San Francisco Call-Bulletin to devote his time to other duties. Effective today, Hearst is being succeeded by Leo Ihle, the newspaper's business manager.

The announcement, by J. D. Gortatowsky, general manager of Hearst Newspapers, said Hearst will concentrate on his duties as president of the Hearst Publishing Co., and assistant manager of the Hearst newspapers.

were kept busy with other sewer cave-ins, a major one on Broadway between Delaware avenue and Chestnut street along the main route traversed by traffic passing through the city on weekends.

City workmen repaired one break on Greenkill avenue, and another in the same vicinity, near Clinton avenue, was fixed by James Berardi, a contractor who bid in the emergency job to relieve the strain on department of public works crews who were busy in other sections of the city.

Main Traffic Artery

Steuding said that Albany avenue had first priority because of its importance as a main artery leading into the city, and in anticipation of heavy holiday traffic.

Andrew street was next because of its proximity to the Benedictine Hospital as an ambulance route.

All efforts will be directed to lower Delaware avenue next week according to Steuding, who said he hoped for clear sailing and that no emergencies would crop up.

Reports Bike Accident

Vernon Brodhead of 27 St. Mary's street reported to police that shortly before 7 p. m. yesterday as he was driving his 1953 sedan west on West Union street Kenneth Peck, 23, of 37 Jansen avenue, riding a bicycle south on Wurts street, ran into the side of his car. He told police that Peck's right arm had been hurt below the elbow.

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

From time to time, as one rides through the county, one sees old small burial grounds of private families of long ago. One such small cemetery, located on the Lily Lake Farm in Highland, was the burial grounds of the Quick family. This property is now owned by Beatrice H. Wadlin, who has put it up for sale, according to the Marlborough newspaper sent to me by a reader. It seems that a prospective buyer from New York wishes to clear the land for development purposes, but objected to the cemetery on the land. According to the item, the Sutton Funeral Home will move the bodies to a town-owned plot in the Highland Cemetery.

It is interesting to learn what does happen to these scattered burial grounds of long ago. For instance it is said, there are some 26 such small cemeteries in the town of Lloyd. Warren Sherwood's History tells that the Howells had a vault on the property of Madame Bertrand which was emptied by removal to another cemetery in recent years. Otherwise, the above is the first transfer of bodies made locally, the item says. At the Lackawack Dam project and for new road beds, this problem was met by transfers, they say. Included among the graves at Lily Lake is that of Abraham Quick, the last survivor of Col. Lewis DuBois' 5th Regiment of the Revolutionary War. Mr. Quick was known to live at Lily Lake as early as 1819. It is also said that "No markers or stones exist at the present time at this place, but the lilac tree is there and the American Legion has placed a flag there each Memorial Day."

With various taxi companies changing their rates, I was asked if I have any data from other years. I take the following as printed in At Century's Turn a number of years ago. It reads: "For some time in 1920, the Common Council had been considering the adoption of an ordinance to regulate taxicabs and to fix the rate of fare to be charged. The aldermen at a meeting held March 16, of that year, finally adopted an ordinance, which had been amended several times. It fixed the taxi fare for one person at 50 cents to any part of the city, with each additional patron paying 25 cents." Back in the 1913 era they had what was called a Jitney Taxi for which as I think they charged only five cents per customer. In the 1916-17 Kingston Directory "The Reliable Taxicab Co." had touring cars at all hours at reasonable rates. "City rates: 50 cents for one or two passengers, 25 cents for each extra person."

Another question which came up was, "what was the name of the bank on the corner of Broadway and East Strand where the Homeseekers is today." It was called the First National Bank of Rondout. Back in the old days of Rondout in 1916 the cashier was Louis Beeres, the president was Ed. Coykendall and vice president, Frank Coykendall. Many of the Rondout businessmen banked there and when it closed they took their business elsewhere. I remember how Mr. Beeres used to walk down every morning to work, and often would see one of the local businessmen of Rondout buttonhole him for business purposes. It was a friendly bank and serviced the storekeepers of Rondout for years.

PITCHING HORSESHOES

By BILLY ROSE

By BILLY ROSE
"3rd Dementia Praecox"

To hear the trade papers tell it, Hollywood these days is like a loony bin in the full of the moon. Half the inmates are scared witless, and the other half—those who believe in the new-fangled techniques—have been described as men suffering from 3rd Dementia Praecox. One studio boss, it's whispered, is seriously considering a hundred-foot screen, the picture to be flashed on the ceiling while the audience watches it from cots.

As I mull it, however, the conniptions of Hollywood are nothing to get concerned about. Movieville has always been more bedlam than rest camp.

Example coming up . . .

One day in the late '20's, while cadging canapes at a studio party, I was introduced to a bright-cheeked lad named Carl Laemmle, Jr. Junior was the new bossman of Universal Pictures, and had fought his way to the top by the clever device of being the son of the man who owned the joint. We chit-chatted a piece, and the fledgling executive mentioned that he was planning a movie of "Show Boat," the Jerome Kern-Oscar Hammerstein masterwork.

I was about to congratulate him when I thought of an angle. At the time, I was not only broke and bumptious but, if you'll pardon a small joke, my angles often rushed in where angels fear to tread.

"'Show Boat' presents a lot of problems," I dead-panned.

"Such as for instance?" asked Junior.

"Well, for one thing, the music," I said. "It was okay enough when it first came out, but I can't help thinking that people are tired of hearing 'Old Man River.'"

The dice came up eleven. "You might have a point there," said Laemmle.

"The solution, as I see it," I went on, innocent-like, "is to get yourself a new set of songs. That way you, personally, will be making an artistic contribution."

I edged away from the window because I was afraid a thunderbolt might strike me dead. To junk the score of "Show Boat" was like putting new music to "Tristan."

"You're making sense," said Junior. "The problem is to get a new composer and lyricist."

"Fred Fisher, the writer of 'Dardenella,' happens to be in town," I said.

"I'll phone him tomorrow," said Laemmle, "but what about the words?"

"Well, it so happens," I said, "that I wrote the lyrics for 'Barney Google.' . . ."

The next day—may the gods of music forgive me—Fisher and I signed a contract to write a new score for "Show Boat."

We cashed our initial checks as fast as we could get to the bank and for the next 24 hours sat around waiting to be picked up by the police. But nothing happened, so we went to work and banged out a score of sorts. Our substitute for "Only Make Believe" was entitled "Magnolia, I Love You," and my conscience still twinges on rainy days when I think of the shabby serenade we wrote to replace "Old Man River." It was called "Shoes Take Me Back."

I've never been a drinking gent, but I hit myself with a tumbler of brandy the morning Fisher and I walked into Junior's office to let him hear the new songs. Fred, a man with ten thumbs, pounded the tunes out on the piano while I cooed the larcenous lyrics. And an hour later, shaken but still game, the baby boss handed us our checks for the balance.

This time we not only cashed them—we left town. And it wasn't until we got to Chicago that I stopped worrying that strong men would take us off the train.

The rest of the yarn is even wackier. Shortly after we left California, Laemmle came to his senses and gave our score to the cat. But, thoroughly confused by this time, he also decided to junk the songs of Kern and Hammerstein. When "Show Boat" was finally released, an old phonograph record of "Lonesome Road" was the sole substitute for the best light score ever composed in this country . . .

So, as I said a few paragraphs back, the current conniptions of Hollywood are nothing to brood about. However, I am a bit worried about the recent announcement that a movie will be made of "Oklahoma!" I'd sure hate to see its memorable songs replaced by "Doggie In The Window."

"3rd Dementia Praecox"

To hear the trade papers tell it, Hollywood these days is like a loony bin in the full of the moon. Half the inmates are scared witless, and the other half—those who believe in the new-fangled techniques—have been described as men suffering from 3rd Dementia Praecox. One studio boss, it's whispered, is seriously considering a hundred-foot screen, the picture to be flashed on the ceiling while the audience watches it from cots.

As I mull it, however, the conniptions of Hollywood are nothing to get concerned about. Movieville has always been more bedlam than rest camp.

Example coming up . . .

One day in the late '20's, while cadging canapes at a studio party, I was introduced to a bright-cheeked lad named Carl Laemmle, Jr. Junior was the new boss-man of Universal Pictures, and had fought his way to the top by the clever device of being the son of the man who owned the joint. We chit-chatted a piece, and the fledgling executive mentioned that he was planning a movie of "Show Boat," the Jerome Kern-Oscar Hammerstein masterwork.

I was about to congratulate him when I thought of an angle. At the time, I was not only broke and bumptious but, if you'll pardon a small joke, my angles often rushed in where angels fear to tread.

"'Show Boat' presents a lot of problems," I dead-panned.

"Such as for instance?" asked Junior.

"Well, for one thing, the music," I said. "It was okay enough when it first came out, but I can't help thinking that people are tired of hearing 'Old Man River.'"

The dice came up eleven. "You might have a point there," said Laemmle.

"The solution, as I see it," I went on, innocent-like, "is to get yourself a new set of songs. That way you, personally, will be making an artistic contribution."

I edged away from the window because I was afraid a thunderbolt might strike me dead. To junk the score of "Show Boat" was like putting new music to "Tristan."

"You're making sense," said Junior. "The problem is to get a new composer and lyricist."

"Fred Fisher, the writer of 'Dardenella,' happens to be in town," I said.

"I'll phone him tomorrow," said Laemmle, "but what about the words?"

"Well, it so happens," I said, "that I wrote the lyrics for 'Barney Google.' . . ."

The next day—may the gods of music forgive me—Fisher and I signed a contract to write a new score for "Show Boat."

We cashed our initial checks as fast as we could get to the bank and for the next 24 hours sat around waiting to be picked up by the police. But nothing happened, so we went to work and banged out a score of sorts. Our substitute for "Only Make Believe" was entitled "Magnolia, I Love You," and my conscience still twinges on rainy days when I think of the shabby serenade we wrote to replace "Old Man River." It was called "Shoes Take Me Back."

I've never been a drinking gent, but I hit myself with a tumbler of brandy the morning Fisher and I walked into Junior's office to let him hear the new songs. Fred, a man with ten thumbs, pounded the tunes out on the piano while I cooed the larcenous lyrics. And an hour later, shaken but still game, the baby boss handed us our checks for the balance.

This time we not only cashed them—we left town. And it wasn't until we got to Chicago that I stopped worrying that strong men would take us off the train.

The rest of the yarn is even wackier. Shortly after we left California, Laemmle came to his senses and gave our score to the cat. But, thoroughly confused by this time, he also decided to junk the songs of Kern and Hammerstein. When "Show Boat" was finally released, an old phonograph record of "Lonesome Road" was the sole substitute for the best light score ever composed in this country . . .

So, as I said a few paragraphs back, the current conniptions of Hollywood are nothing to brood about. However, I am a bit worried about the recent announcement that a movie will be made of "Oklahoma!" I'd sure hate to see its memorable songs replaced by "Doggie In The Window."

Recent Enlistment Makes Aug. Total Nine With Marines

T/Sgt. Charles C. Awkerman, non-commissioned officer in charge of the local Marine Corps recruiting office, announced the recent enlistment of six Ulster county men at his office. With these six enlistments, the month of August was the highest procurement for the Marine Corps in Kingston over the past two and a half years. A total of nine men enlisted.

They were Robert H. Butler, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert F. Butler, R 2, Kingston; Duane F. Castellano, 18, son of Mrs. Albert W. Vedder, East Chester street; Robert E. Gilson, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Milton F. Gilson, Rosendale; Petrus C. Koot Jr., 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Petrus C. Koot, Hague Holland; William Costello, 17, son of Mrs. Vivian Anderson, 11 West Strand; and Vincent C. Carney, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent J. Carney of Saugerties.

The six new enlistees will serve a three year period and have been assigned to 10 weeks basic training at Recruit Depot, Parris Island, S. C. Following their basic training, they will receive the customary 10 day recruit leave given all new marines.

Privates Butler, Castellano, Gilson and Costello attended Kingston High School. Pvt. Koot entered the Marines on the non-citizen program, having entered this country last July. He attended school in Holland and took an active part in rescue and reconstruction work during the February flood that struck his country. For his outstanding work at that time, he received a recognition certificate from the Dutch government. Pvt. Carney attended Saugerties High School.

Hot Sandwich

Cream butter or margarine and dark brown sugar together; spread on lightly toasted bread slices. Place under the broiler until bubbly, but watch so as not to scorch. Good with glasses of cold milk for small fry or teen-agers; delicious with tea or coffee for oldsters' evening snack!

THE RUMINATOR

By HUMPHREY B. NEILL

A Column of Contrary Opinion

It is always gratifying to the Ruminator when recognition is given to the effect of mass psychology upon economic conditions.

This in turn recognizes the value of the theory of contrary opinion. If mass psychology plays an important part in the trends of politics and socio-economics then we certainly are justified in considering "opposite viewpoints" when there appears to be a mass opinion, or a mass movement, in any one direction.

Only recently this writer has received or noticed comments that indicate some serious curiosity, at least, in the contrary theory.

The editor of a prominent bankers' journal wrote that he wished to "probe a bit further" the theory of contrary opinion, from which the Ruminator hopes to strike up an informative exchange of correspondence.

Then in mid-August there was a column in the Journal of Commerce, written by Journal's well-known editor, Dr. H. E. Luedicke, which covers some points that the Ruminator thinks are worth discussion here.

Commenting upon the business outlook, H. L. (as he signs his column) remarked upon the "mixed evidence" from prevailing economic data. He then added this, which is not so trite as it sounds: "What makes business planning so difficult at this time is the fact that nobody knows which business barometer or barometers will signal the next downturn in business—not only reliably, but early enough so that businessmen can do something about it in time.

As there are numerous indicators which forecasters follow—some receiving more weight than others—it is always a question which ones will indicate coming trends ahead of time. As we all know, after a trend sets in you can look back and point to indicators that started down ahead of the general trend, but it is puzzling to accomplish this in advance of a change of trend.

Turning to "mass psychology", Dr. Luedicke referred to the comman opinion, which has been so evident lately, that "everybody expects a recession" sometime prior to mid-1954. (The Ruminator's check on this general opinion shows that mid '54 is the most commonly expected date for the much-advertised slump to set in.)

Then referring to some data this writer had sent to the Journal of Commerce, the editor referred to us as the "Institute of Contrary Opinion" which "stakes its reputation on the observation that things never — or at least hardly ever—go the way 'everybody' expects them to go." Dr. Luedicke was kind enough to add that "this is an intriguing point of view, but that he didn't care to tie his decisons to any kind of a inflexible rule, even this kind (the contrary kind)." It has been his experience, he said, that unanimity of opinion in economic judgments can have one of two effects: under certain circumstances, it can indeed cancel out a change that "everybody" expects. Under other circumstances, however, it can actually hasten and aggravate a trend that is expected by "everybody."

Actually, the foregoing comments are an exceedingly convincing description of the theory of contrary opinion. Particularly cogent because expressed so clearly, yet briefly.

The idea of thinking contrarily is to avoid mass movements at one time and to check the probable errors in mass opinions at another time. In the past the Ruminator has often discussed some of the manias of history which illustrate the mass movements—the times when mass hysteria has hastened and aggravated the trend. But our point is that the contrary-minded observer may avoid getting caught in these mass manias by refusing to go along with the "crowd." When a mass movement occurs, it will be noticed that there was a long build-up prior to the movement to which one could have been "opposite" if he were contrary enough.

So, while the Ruminator agrees thoroughly with the Journal of Commerce's appraisal, we should keep the two ideas separated in our minds. One is a mass "opinion" about a given outlook, and the other is a mass "movement" or a mania that seems headed in one direction only. The stock-market crash of 1929 may be used as an example, perhaps. If one had been "contrary" to the fantastic build-up of the boom, he would not have been caught in the panic that followed. There was a get-rich-quick mania before the smash-up and a fear panic which followed. A few contrarians avoided both.

This one-girl band plays phone numbers

Telephone operators don't have to read a note of music. But some of them use special switchboard buttons that produce musical tones. And these tones help make it possible for the operator to dial calls direct to out-of-town telephones.

In front of the operator are ten buttons, marked 0 to 9. When you give her a long distance number, she pushes the buttons for that number. You may not hear the musical tones the equipment sends to the distant telephone office, but switches tuned to these notes "hear" them perfectly. They connect you with the phone you want. And, generally, it's only twenty seconds or so from the time the operator presses the buttons until the distant phone starts ringing.

Today more than half of all long distance calls are being dialed by operators—a good example of how continuous research and development help make your phone service ever faster, clearer and more dependable. New York Telephone Company.

This one-girl band plays phone numbers

Telephone operators don't have to read a note of music. But some of them use special switchboard buttons that produce musical tones. And these tones help make it possible for the operator to dial calls direct to out-of-town telephones.

In front of the operator are ten buttons, marked 0 to 9. When you give her a long distance number, she pushes the buttons for that number. You may not hear the musical tones the equipment sends to the distant telephone office, but switches tuned to these notes "hear" them perfectly. They connect you with the phone you want. And, generally, it's only twenty seconds or so from the time the operator presses the buttons until the distant phone starts ringing.

Today more than half of all long distance calls are being dialed by operators—a good example of how continuous research and development help make your phone service ever faster, clearer and more dependable. New York Telephone Company.

Miss Togna Becomes Mrs. F. C. DeGraff at Church in Gardiner

Nuptials of Miss Dussalina T. Togna and Frederick C. DeGraff took place at the Gardiner Reformed Church Sunday, Aug. 30, with the Rev. John Van Strien officiating. Mrs. Frank Agor assisted at the organ.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Togna of Gardiner and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Howard DeGraff of the same place.

Escorted by her father, the bride wore an off-white frock of taffeta with lace trim and a bouffant skirt terminating in a chapel train. Her fingertip veil was caught to a tiara of seed pearls and rhinestones and she carried a bouquet of white orchids and carnations.

The bridegroom's sister was her only attendant. She wore a dress of blue purple straw lace and net gown and carried an old fashioned bouquet of yellow roses.

Michael Togna, brother of the bride, was best man and Henry Togna and Albert Moran, Jr., were the ushers.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Cross Roads Inn.

Mrs. DeGraff attended New Paltz Central School and has been employed by the Wallace Co. of Poughkeepsie. Mr. DeGraff attended the same school and served three years with the navy.

For the wedding trip to northern New York, the bride chose a gray silk dress with pink and black accessories. Their future home will be in New Paltz.

MRS. DOROTHY NAREL

Mrs. Dorothy Narel, well-known local commentator, has accepted the position of Y-Teen Program Director with the Kingston YWCA, it was announced today by Mrs. Fred R. Port, president of the board of directors.

A favorite with radio audiences throughout the mid-Hudson valley, Mrs. Narel is well known in connection with her programs featuring "the women's side of the news," and things of general interest to women.

At present women's program director of radio station WKNY, Mrs. Narel's first introduction to local audiences was through her outstanding mezzo-soprano voice. Music, one of Mrs. Narel's main interests, has brought her in contact with many exciting avenues of expression. She served as president of the Lyric Club of Union, N. J., as well as president of a Polish women's choir, also in Union, doing the arranging, booking and general management for both these groups. At one time considering a career of concert pianist, Mrs. Narel has taught piano on the junior high level.

BELIEVE HUSBAND RIGHT!

This morning a letter says: "I would very much like to have your opinion of the following situation: Last night my husband and I drove out to see some friends who live in the suburbs. We hadn't seen them for a long time and were looking forward to spending a pleasant evening with them. They seemed very happy to see us, but soon after the greetings were over the wife excused herself and said that she simply had to wash her hair that evening. She was gone almost an hour and then came back with her hair all done up in curlers. I thought her behavior extremely rude and went away feeling very hurt. My husband thinks I am oversensitive."

If you had made a plan to see them that evening, then I think you would be right. If, however, you walked in unexpectedly, then I think your are oversensitive. It very well may have been because of some special engagement the next day she had to have her hair done, and had no other time to do it. If so, then I think what she did was perfectly excusable.

Replacing Broken Pitcher

Dear Mrs. Post: Recently I was invited to a garden party given by a neighbor. During the evening I dropped a water pitcher and broke it. I felt terribly about it but she was exceeding gracious and assured me that although it was old it was not an antique and had no sentimental value. She said that it would be glued together very easily, which fact led me to believe that it really had some valuc and that she took it lightly for my sake. I know an old article cannot be replaced, but she was so sweet I want to do the right thing. What would you suggest?

Answer: The most unfortunate fact of breaking something is that a duplicate is seldom to be found. If, however, you can find one nearly like it, do so.

Flowers for Bereaved Friend

Dear Mrs. Post: (1) Please tell me if it is correct to send flowers to the house of a friend who lost her mother, instead of sending them to the funeral home. (2) Should these flowers be sent before the funeral or may they be sent afterwards? (3) Also, what kind of flowers are sent—fresh cut or a potted plant?

Answer: (1) Yes. (2) Could be sent anytime. (3) Both would be proper—whichever you think she likes best.

Miss Togna Becomes Mrs. F. C. DeGraff at Church in Gardiner

Nuptials of Miss Dussalina T. Togna and Frederick C. DeGraff took place at the Gardiner Reformed Church Sunday, Aug. 30, with the Rev. John Van Strien officiating. Mrs. Frank Agor assisted at the organ.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Togna of Gardiner and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Howard DeGraff of the same place.

Escorted by her father, the bride wore an off-white frock of taffeta with lace trim and a bouffant skirt terminating in a chapel train. Her fingertip veil was caught to a tiara of seed pearls and rhinestones and she carried a bouquet of white orchids and carnations.

The bridegroom's sister was her only attendant. She wore a dress of blue purple straw lace and net gown and carried an old fashioned bouquet of yellow roses.

Michael Togna, brother of the bride, was best man and Henry Togna and Albert Moran, Jr., were the ushers.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Cross Roads Inn.

Mrs. DeGraff attended New Paltz Central School and has been employed by the Wallace Co. of Poughkeepsie. Mr. DeGraff attended the same school and served three years with the navy.

For the wedding trip to northern New York, the bride chose a gray silk dress with pink and black accessories. Their future home will be in New Paltz.

MRS. DOROTHY NAREL

Mrs. Dorothy Narel, well-known local commentator, has accepted the position of Y-Teen Program Director with the Kingston YWCA, it was announced today by Mrs. Fred R. Port, president of the board of directors.

A favorite with radio audiences throughout the mid-Hudson valley, Mrs. Narel is well known in connection with her programs featuring "the women's side of the news," and things of general interest to women.

At present women's program director of radio station WKNY, Mrs. Narel's first introduction to local audiences was through her outstanding mezzo-soprano voice. Music, one of Mrs. Narel's main interests, has brought her in contact with many exciting avenues of expression. She served as president of the Lyric Club of Union, N. J., as well as president of a Polish women's choir, also in Union, doing the arranging, booking and general management for both these groups. At one time considering a career of concert pianist, Mrs. Narel has taught piano on the junior high level.

Mrs. Narel took her undergraduate work at Montclair Teachers' College, studying business administration and music. Further study at Columbia University in employe public relations qualified her for work as executive secretary of public relations with the General Electric Company in New York.

"I've always had a warm spot in my heart for the Y," Mrs. Narel said when interviewed today. A former Y-teen herself, she has maintained an active interest in Y work for many years. Mrs. Narel has two daughters, Amelia and Barbara. Her favorite hobby is musical composition, especially songs with lyrics in German or Polish.

Mrs. Narel's position at the YWCA will be that of overall administration of the Y-Teen program, with special responsibility for the junior high. She will also continue with her regular radio assignments.

BELIEVE HUSBAND RIGHT!

This morning a letter says: "I would very much like to have your opinion of the following situation: Last night my husband and I drove out to see some friends who live in the suburbs. We hadn't seen them for a long time and were looking forward to spending a pleasant evening with them. They seemed very happy to see us, but soon after the greetings were over the wife excused herself and said that she simply had to wash her hair that evening. She was gone almost an hour and then came back with her hair all done up in curlers. I thought her behavior extremely rude and went away feeling very hurt. My husband thinks I am oversensitive."

If you had made a plan to see them that evening, then I think you would be right. If, however, you walked in unexpectedly, then I think your are oversensitive. It very well may have been because of some special engagement the next day she had to have her hair done, and had no other time to do it. If so, then I think what she did was perfectly excusable.

Replacing Broken Pitcher

Dear Mrs. Post: Recently I was invited to a garden party given by a neighbor. During the evening I dropped a water pitcher and broke it. I felt terribly about it but she was exceeding gracious and assured me that although it was old it was not an antique and had no sentimental value. She said that it would be glued together very easily, which fact led me to believe that it really had some value and that she took it lightly for my sake. I know an old article cannot be replaced, but she was so sweet I want to do the right thing. What would you suggest?

Answer: The most unfortunate fact of breaking something is that a duplicate is seldom to be found. If, however, you can find one nearly like it, do so.

Flowers for Bereaved Friend

Dear Mrs. Post: (1) Please tell me if it is correct to send flowers to the house of a friend who lost her mother, instead of sending them to the funeral home. (2) Should these flowers be sent before the funeral or may they be sent afterwards? (3) Also, what kind of flowers are sent—fresh cut or a potted plant?

Answer: (1) Yes. (2) Could be sent anytime. (3) Both would be proper—whichever you think she likes best.

Teach Youngsters Obedience To Rules as Self-Protection

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

At the age of four, Tom had sensational tantums. At nine, he was a veteran school truant. By the time he was 11, the only rules he obeyed were those he made for himself.

He thought he had the world by the tail—but whenever he had to give an account of his doings to a policeman, a teacher or his chronically compiaining mother, a nervous tic would begin to pull at his lip muscle.

One day a juvenile court judge rejected Tom's account of his doings and sent him away to a place that required obedience to other people's rules. At first, he broke them. When this happened, adults didn't threaten, criticize or nag. Instead, the young man charged with revising Tom's viewpoint on rules explained their protective function to him.

"Of course you get in trouble when you're late for a meal," he would say. "You can't expect the kids in the dishwashing squad to be nice to you when you hold up their work. Don't you see how you lay yourself wide open when you break the meal rule? Don't you think you might take care of yourself better?"

The idea that obedience to rules was self-protective was a new one to Tom. Gradually, as it made sense to him, obedience came easier. His facial tic disappeared. As his record for obedience grew, with it grew a new kind of inner certainty.

For by discharging his responsibilities to others, Tom began to release himself from his oppressive and bitter resentment. No longer haunted by a sense of obligation to others, he could speak up without fear to them. If he objected to one of the rules, he was able to tell them why, instead of breaking it.

Our training in obedience to rules makes little realistic sense to children if we don't stress its protective function to them.

Often, we just demand Jimmy's obedience as though it were something unrelated to self-respect. We say, "Why should you get to school on time? Because I say so."

By such talk, aren't we suggesting that we want punctuality from Jimmy, not for his convenience but for ours or his teacher's? Of course we are. No wonder he stalls. We're facing Jimmy with an impossible demand. At this stage of development, he is unable to consider us ahead of himself.

That's why we have to identify obedience with consideration for himself. Unless we open his eyes to how tardiness exposes him to the resentful accusations of those who are punctual, Jimmy may not recognize his need to protect himself against such accusations.

Obedience, unrelated to protection of a little boy's dignity, is just a word grownups use to push you around.

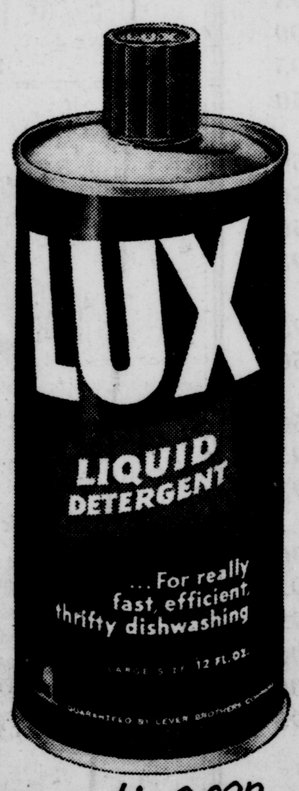
Now no one puts dishes on the driveway. But we photographed them there to show that dishes often can keep you from getting out in the car and doing things. One thousand dishes (the weekly average for a family of four) make dishwashing a big job.

Let this can help you out with the dishes!



Packed in a can as it should be—with a dripless spout

Won't break like a bottle. Won't get soggy or take up room like a box. And the dripless spout keeps the liquid from dripping down the side of the can.

Hundreds of women tell us that new Lux Liquid Detergent saves them a lot of time and bother. One canful will wash more dishes than several boxes of the most popular laundry powder. And it's almost as mild on your hands as Lux Toilet Soap.

New Lux Liquid Detergent really helps you out with the dishes because it's especially made for washing dishes. Lux Liquid does the job like no washday powders can.

Nothing can touch it for getting dishes, pots and pans sparkling clean. It literally soaks them clean. It cuts away the grease. Gets between the clinging grease and the dish. Dissolves the grease.

This can in your kitchen is the next best thing to a dishwashing machine.

Another thing you'll like about Lux Liquid is the way it makes instant suds. That's because it's already dissolved. And it's almost as mild as Lux Toilet Soap.

Now, how about cost? Lux Liquid Detergent is far more economical than the best-selling laundry powder.

Just a few drops wash the dishes. One trial will show you how little you have to use.

There's a money-back Lever Brothers guarantee, of course, but judging by the way women are raving about this new Lux Liquid Detergent, we believe you're going to like it a whole lot, too.

LEVER BROTHERS

Lux Liquid for dishes! Lux Flakes for nylons! Tests prove that Lux Flakes care can give you double the stocking wear. Get two identical pairs. Wash one pair with any strong washday powder; the other pair in pure, gentle Lux Flakes. You'll see that Lux care does keep nylon threads strong. And see how nice and mild it is on your hands.

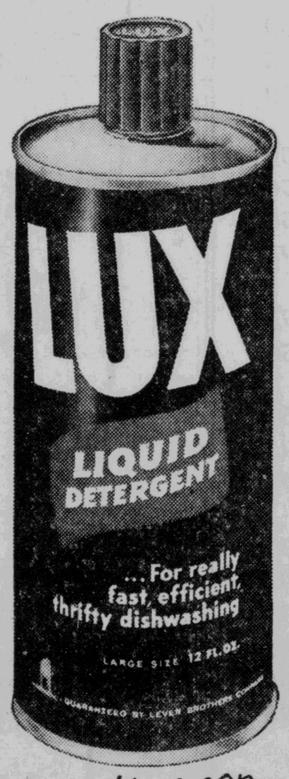
Now no one puts dishes on the driveway. But we photographed them there to show that dishes often can keep you from getting out in the car and doing things. One thousand dishes (the weekly average for a family of four) make dishwashing a big job.

Let this can help you out with the dishes!



Hundreds of women tell us that new Lux Liquid Detergent saves them a lot of time and bother. One canful will wash more dishes than several boxes of the most popular laundry powder. And it's almost as mild on your hands as Lux Toilet Soap.

New Lux Liquid Detergent really helps you out with the dishes because it's especially made for washing dishes. Lux Liquid does the job like no washday powders can.

Nothing can touch it for getting dishes, pots and pans sparkling clean. It literally soaks them clean. It cuts away the grease. Gets between the clinging grease and the dish. Dissolves the grease.

This can in your kitchen is the next best thing to a dishwashing machine.

Another thing you'll like about Lux Liquid is the way it makes instant suds. That's because it's already dissolved. And it's almost as mild as Lux Toilet Soap.

Now, how about cost? Lux Liquid Detergent is far more economical than the best-selling laundry powder.

Just a few drops wash the dishes. One trial will show you how little you have to use.

There's a money-back Lever Brothers guarantee, of course, but judging by the way women are raving about this new Lux Liquid Detergent, we believe you're going to like it a whole lot, too.

LEVER BROTHERS

Lux Liquid for dishes! Lux Flakes for nylons! Tests prove that Lux Flakes care can give you double the stocking wear. Get two identical pairs. Wash one pair with any strong washday powder; the other pair in pure, gentle Lux Flakes. You'll see that Lux care does keep nylon threads strong. And see how nice and mild it is on your hands.

Packed in a can as it should be—with a dripless spout

Won't break like a bottle. Won't get soggy or take up room like a box. And the dripless spout keeps the liquid from dripping down the side of the can.

Braves Beat Everybody Except the Team to Beat

Couldn't Handle Brook Dodgers

By BEN PHLEGAR
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

The Milwaukee Braves get a last look tonight at the home of the team they couldn't beat for the National League pennant.

The Brooklyn Dodgers represent the one jinx the Braves failed to shake in their move from Boston to Milwaukee. Charlie Grimm's charges convinced the rest of the league the bold Braves of Milwaukee bore no resemblance to the woe-begone Redskins that huddled in seventh place in Boston a year ago. But they couldn't persuade the Dodgers.

With four meetings remaining—two in Brooklyn tonight and tomorrow and two in Milwaukee later this month—the Dodgers lead the Braves 12-6 for the season. Last year when the Braves performed out of Boston the Dodgers beat them 18 times.

Milwaukee has clinched its season's series with every other team except the St. Louis Cardinals and they lead the Red Birds 10-6.

At the moment Brooklyn holds its fattest margin of the season over the Braves—11 games—and has a theoretical chance to wrap up the flag by the end of the Labor Day doubleheader, 20 days before the season ends.

Yesterday Brooklyn ended a perfect home season against the Cardinals—11 victories in 11 games—with a 12-5 decision despite five St. Louis home runs. New York shaded Chicago 10-9 in the only other National League action.

Yankees Gain

The New York Yankees moved 9½ games in front of the faltering Chicago White Sox as they tripped the Sox 3-2 at Chicago. Cleveland resumed its winning ways at the expense of the Boston Red Sox 13-3 and Detroit defeated Philadelphia 7-5. St. Louis and Washington weren't scheduled. The third place Indians are within a game of the White Sox and 10½ behind New York.

The St. Louis home runs at Brooklyn were all off Preacher Roe who survived only because his mates backed him with a 17-hit assault. The record for home runs off one pitcher in a game is six. Steve Bilko hit two, Stan Musial, Harry Elliott and Rip Repulski one each. The outburst ran the Cards' homer total for the year to 120, a club record.

Maglie Fails

Sal Maglie, one-time ace of the Giants, failed again against the Cubs but the New Yorkers came from behind and won in the eighth.

Mickey Mantle's 17 homer proved the margin of difference for the Yankees over the White Sox. For a brief spell it looked as if the Chicagoans were going to come up with one of their patented late inning rallies in the seventh, but they could score only one run after loading the bases with none out.

Early Wynn struck out 10 in winning his 16th game for Cleveland. The 13 hit Indian attack included Al Rosen's 36th home run.

Gus Zernial of Philadelphia passed Rosen with a pair of homers, his 36th and 37th, off Detroit's Ned Garver. Fine relief work by Ray Herbert silenced the A's from the fifth on and the Tigers came from behind to win.

Yesterday's Stars

(By The Associated Press)

Pitching—Early Wynn, Cleveland Indians, struck out 10 in winning his 16th game 13-3 over Boston.

Batting—Gus Zernial, Philadelphia Athletics, took over the American League home run lead with a total of 37, hitting two at Detroit although the A's lost 7-5.

Fights Last Night

For the first time in five years, Ed Weaver's name will be missing from a West Point varsity football roster when the Cadets kick off against Furman on Sept. 26 at Michie Stadium.

The former Kingston High School athletic great has a year of basketball eligibility remaining, but his tremendous stint against Navy last December in Philadelphia was his swansong as a Cadet gridder.

As a second classman (sophomore) Weaver vaulted into prominence as an offensive end for Coach Red Blaik. Army insiders said he was as effective as the more publicized, All-American Dan Foldberg. Then came scholastic difficulties, a long, arduous trek back to varsity stature.

Weaver was one of Army's standouts against Navy in the game won 7-0 by the Middies. A crashing tackle by Weaver inside the Army 5-yard line prevented another Navy score. Big Ed is scheduled to receive his shavetail bars next June.

• Incidental Intelligence:

Army has two new opponents on the 1953 schedule—Tulane University and North Carolina State. The Tarheels come to Michie Stadium on Nov. 7. The Columbia Lion is slated on Oct. 24 and Duke's Blue Devils have a Polo Grounds date with Army on Oct. 17. West Point was founded in 1802, has a current enrollment of 2496. There are five New York state youths on this year's varsity roster. The West Point team has three commonly-used nicknames, "Army," "Cadets" and "Black Knights." Michie Stadium, dedicated on Nov. 15, 1924, when Army and Columbia played a 14-14 tie, has a seating capacity of 27,000 with every seat in the house a good one. Coach Blaik has 16 returning lettermen but among the aces of 1952 missing this time around, besides Weaver, are Dick Reich, Don Fuqua, Freddie Myers, Mario DeLuca, John Korbock, Bob Guidera and Pete Manus. Vincent T. Lombardi, one of Fordham University's famed Seven Blocks of Granite, is a backfield coach.

Army won 4 and lost 4, tied (14-14 with Columbia) in 1952. The Cadets hold a 27-22 edge over Navy, with 4 ties but the Middies have won the last three games 14-2, 42-7 and 7-0. There was a famous and disputed 21-21 tie in 1948 but Army won five out of six in the sequence up to Navy's last three triumphs. Army has played 135 different oppponents since 1890, with 372 wins, 128 defeats and 37 ties. Army trails Notre Dame, 23-7, in their interrupted series, but clobbered the Fighting Irish in the war years of 1944 and 1945 by scores of 59-0 and 48-0. Those two teams had Glen Davis, Arnold Tucker and Doc Blanchard in the backfield. In 1944, Army yielded only five touchdowns in nine games, crushed the opposition 504-35 in points, including a 83-0 hosing of Villanova. The following season the Cadets relented somewhat on defense, yielding 46 points, while scoring 412. The big blow was a 61-0 crusher over Pennsylvania. That season a shocking first quarter score was flashed across the nation's radios and football fields. It was Motor Torpedo Boat Squadron of Melville, R. I., 14, Army 0. We were still in the Army and saw that one. The enraged Cadets bounced back to score 55 points in the next three periods to win 55-13. The MTBS team had a group of National League pros and ex-college stars who were terrific while their wind held out. Then came the deluge.

The Cadets have had a distinguished array of All-Americans through the years. First Army player to make Walter Camp's mythical eleven was Charles Romeyn in 1898. Then followed such Michie Stadium immortals as Charles Daly, John McEwan, Elmer Oliphant, Edgar Garbisch, Light Horse Harry Wilson, Chris Cagle, Doc Blanchard, Glenn Davis, Arnold Tucker and a flock of others. Ed Messinger of Kingston won honorable All-America mention in his senior year. Ed Weaver gained honorable mention on Grantland Rice's All-America squad as a sophomore. The West Pointers have had three great winning streaks—25 straight in 1944-46, 32 straight 1945-1947 and 28 straight, 1947-50. Highest score by an Army team was the 90-0 rout of Bowdoin in 1920. Pennsylvania holds the record score against Army, 48-0, in 1940. Highest score against Army at Michie Stadium, 45-0, by Cornell in 1945. Longest Army run in history was a 110-yard jaunt by Ray C. Hill in 1904 against NYU. Longest run in the Army-Navy series was the 98-yard return of the kickoff at Franklin Field in 1901. The Cadets certainly have their moments of

Couldn't Handle Brook Dodgers

By BEN PHLEGAR
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

The Milwaukee Braves get a last look tonight at the home of the team they couldn't beat for the National League pennant.

The Brooklyn Dodgers represent the one jinx the Braves failed to shake in their move from Boston to Milwaukee. Charlie Grimm's charges convinced the rest of the league the bold Braves of Milwaukee bore no resemblance to the woe-begone Redskins that huddled in seventh place in Boston a year ago. But they couldn't persuade the Dodgers.

With four meetings remaining—two in Brooklyn tonight and tomorrow and two in Milwaukee later this month—the Dodgers lead the Braves 12-6 for the season. Last year when the Braves performed out of Boston the Dodgers beat them 18 times.

Milwaukee has clinched its season's series with every other team except the St. Louis Cardinals and they lead the Red Birds 10-6.

At the moment Brooklyn holds its fattest margin of the season over the Braves—11 games—and has a theoretical chance to wrap up the flag by the end of the Labor Day doubleheader, 20 days before the season ends.

Yesterday Brooklyn ended a perfect home season against the Cardinals—11 victories in 11 games—with a 12-5 decision despite five St. Louis home runs. New York shaded Chicago 10-9 in the only other National League action.

Yankees Gain

The New York Yankees moved 9½ games in front of the faltering Chicago White Sox as they tripped the Sox 3-2 at Chicago. Cleveland resumed its winning ways at the expense of the Boston Red Sox 13-3 and Detroit defeated Philadelphia 7-5. St. Louis and Washington weren't scheduled. The third place Indians are within a game of the White Sox and 10½ behind New York.

The St. Louis home runs at Brooklyn were all off Preacher Roe who survived only because his mates backed him with a 17-hit assault. The record for home runs off one pitcher in a game is six. Steve Bilko hit two, Stan Musial, Harry Elliott and Rip Repulski one each. The outburst ran the Cards' homer total for the year to 120, a club record.

Maglie Fails

Sal Maglie, one-time ace of the Giants, failed again against the Cubs but the New Yorkers came from behind and won in the eighth.

Mickey Mantle's 17 homer proved the margin of difference for the Yankees over the White Sox. For a brief spell it looked as if the Chicagoans were going to come up with one of their patented late inning rallies in the seventh, but they could score only one run after loading the bases with none out.

Early Wynn struck out 10 in winning his 16th game for Cleveland. The 13 hit Indian attack included Al Rosen's 36th home run.

Gus Zernial of Philadelphia passed Rosen with a pair of homers, his 36th and 37th, off Detroit's Ned Garver. Fine relief work by Ray Herbert silenced the A's from the fifth on and the Tigers came from behind to win.

Yesterday's Stars

(By The Associated Press)

Pitching—Early Wynn, Cleveland Indians, struck out 10 in winning his 16th game 13-3 over Boston.

Batting—Gus Zernial, Philadelphia Athletics, took over the American League home run lead with a total of 37, hitting two at Detroit although the A's lost 7-5.

Colonials Will Complete Hudson Valley Schedule

Meet Newburgh Here Saturday

Series Standing

Newburgh	4	2
Poughkeepsie	3	3
Kingston	2	4

Despite promoter Fred Davi's illness, the Kingston Colonials will complete the Hudson valley semi-pro championship series against Newburgh and Poughkeepsie this weekend.

Shortly after the veteran manager was stricken with a heart attack, it was thought the Kingston end of the series would be cancelled out. But Davi, who is making an excellent recovery at the Benedictine Hospital, has urged that the Colonials meet their schedule commitments.

Williams in Charge

Tony Williams, who handles the Wiltwyck Motor entry in the City Baseball League, will be in charge of the team Saturday night at municipal stadium when they meet the pace setting Newburgh Jewels.

The Colonial schedule closes out next Tuesday against Poughkeepsie at Riverview Field.

Al Blake, who stopped Poughkeepsie with eight hits last Saturday, goes against the Jewels, with Fred Vogel, Trinity College ace scheduled to work next Tuesday's game at Poughkeepsie.

"We still have an outside chance to tie for first place," Williams said. "I think Blake will beat Newburgh and we have proved we hold a jinx over Poughkeepsie. If we can sweep these two games, while Poughkeepsie takes a game from Newburgh, we will tie for first place."

Jewels on Rampage

Charlie Benefield, an old Bridge City nemesis, and Ralph Petrillo, ex-Harvard star, combined to give the Jewels an 8-1 decision over Poughkeepsie before a sparse gathering last night at Riverview Field.

Benefield, pitching his second win over the All Stars, allowed only five hits. Petrillo, who missed both games against Kingston, cracked a two-run homer in the third and a two-run triple in the fifth. Dick Whitesell was the losing pitcher.

Manager Bill Ryan of Newburgh has named Tony Donato as the Jewel pitcher Saturday night at the stadium. Donato figured in Newburgh's 18-5 win over the Colonials and dropped a 4-2 decision to Billy Ostrom.

Yuk-a-Puk Winner At Roosevelt Track

Westbury, Sept. 2 (AP)—Yuk-A-Puk, owned by A. M. Nardin and Mr. and Mrs. Morey Amsterdam of New York, held off the late charge of Dominion Prince last night to win the Greenvale Pace by a neck at Roosevelt Raceway.

Stanley Dancer took Yuk-A-Puk to the top at the three-quarter mark, then outgamed favored Dominion Prince in the stretch. Piney Fingo, who set the pace for three-quarters of a mile, was third. The time for the mile and one-sixteenth was 2:15, and Yuk-A-Puk returned $12.30 for $2. It was Dancer's 39th winner at Roosevelt this year.

* Involved in protested game.

A decision by the City Softball League's protest board is due tonight in the case of Hilltop vs. Subway Grill.

According to the current standings, the Grillmen are "in" as 1453 champions with a two-game margin over runnerup Hilltop. The Grills have won 21 and lost 3.

One of the victories, however, was a 2-0 decision over Hilltop which has been protested by the latter club. It involves a call by one of the umpires, according to best available information.

If the Hilltop protest is upheld, one game will be sliced off the Subway margin and they will need at least one more victory to cinch the crown.

Hilltop Wins

Hilltop enjoyed a couple of three-run innings behind Joe Enright's 3-hit pitching to whip the league leaders, 6-2, in Monday's action. Tom Spada was the victim, although he permitted only four hits, none of the extra base variety. The Subways picked up their two runs in the fifth.

Danny Basch pitched 5-hit ball and pounded four hits off Ferrell McElrath to pace Beichert's Studies to a 7-3 decision over Lincoln Park Inn.

One of the five hits off Basch was a triple by Jack Ruzzo. Andy Murphy and Form Coughlin each collected two hits for the Studies.

"Beagle or basset? That is the question," said Jack.

Yes, they are two very fine breeds. If you are thinking of getting one or the other, but can't decide which, let me suggest that a choice should depend on the purpose for which you wish to use the dog.

"Well, they're both rabbit dogs, aren't they?" Jack asked, thinking he was answering his own question.

True enough, but both beagle and basset are sometimes used for other things, too. Both breeds can be used for flushing pheasant and will push a pheasant off the ground in quick fashion—trailing runners or reluctant flyers.

Physically, the chief difference between the dogs is size. The beagle is a well balanced little dog, bred 13 or 15 inches at the shoulder. He weighs between 20 and 30 pounds. His speed afoot is limited by his size so that he will not hole a rabbit in too quickly.

The basset hound is a much bigger dog—about the size of a foxhound, but his legs have been bred to look like a Chippendale bathtub to limit his speed. In the basset you have the easy temperament and the nose and voice of a big hound mounted on legs that keep him in low gear.

They are both rabbit dogs, but the lively beagle is one kind of personality and the big, lumbering, soft-eyed basset is another—and believe me, owners swear by both.

Another to remember, of course, is that the basset is more likely to be a natural retriever. Some old-timers have used them successfully for years to flush and retrieve grouse. Beagles only rarely have a natural desire to retrieve.

On the debit side, the basset requires a bit more room to get around. Not that he needs more exercise space, but he takes up more space in the car, for example. He may be only 15 inches high, but from the nose to tail he's over twice as long.

"That settles it," said Jack. "My wife has always wanted a dachshund and the basset should have the same aesthetic appeal."

In that case the choice between the beagle and a basset should be a dachshund. Get a good one from field stock and you'll please the wife and have a rabbit dog, too.

Some interesting facts...

for the man who thinks

"all good gasolines are about the same!"

This is such a common idea in people's minds, that you may be interested to know that it never was true . . . and isn't now!

Take a minute now to read why this is so . . . and you may be on your way to getting more for your gasoline money for years to come.

Here's the story . . . short and sweet!

First, it is true that all reputable gasolines today are good products and good value for your money.

Second, it is true that "premium" gasolines, at slightly higher cost, do give added performance values in most cars.

But . . . it is not true that all "premium" gasolines give the same amount of extra value for the higher price. Differences, in fact, are surprisingly great in many cases.

And . . . it is also true that Esso Extra gasoline meets the highest standard of all-round, year-round performance quality that exists!

Proof? It starts by taking these eight performance qualities which automotive engineers agree are basic in importance to a good gasoline.

1. Sheer Power; 2. High Anti-Knock; 3. Long Mileage; 4. Clean Engine Operation; 5. Quick Starting; 6. Fast Warm-Up; 7. Hot Weather Anti-Vapor-Lock; 8. Cool Weather Anti-Stalling.

Using this "yardstick" Esso Extra is tested scientifically for all these qualities against the best competing brands. And time after time in these tests Esso Extra meets the highest standard of overall year-round performance quality.

So . . . when you pay a little extra for a premium gasoline why not see your Esso Dealer? . . . why not get the most popular and largest-selling premium gasoline in the area served by Esso Dealers? . . . why not get all the extra benefits that await you all year 'round at the Esso Extra pump? That's what "Happy Motoring" really means! See your Esso Dealer today and regularly!

Esso Extra meets today's highest standard of year-round gasoline performance!

ESSO STANDARD OIL COMPANY

ESSO ROAD MAPS make travel easier and more interesting. If you're planning a trip, be sure to ask your Esso Dealer to have it map-routed by Esso Touring Service. Some interesting facts...

for the man who thinks "all good gasolines are about the same!"

This is such a common idea in people's minds, that you may be interested to know that it never was true . . . and isn't now!

Take a minute now to read why this is so . . . and you may be on your way to getting more for your gasoline money for years to come.

Here's the story . . . short and sweet!

First, it is true that all reputable gasolines today are good products and good value for your money.

Second, it is true that "premium" gasolines, at slightly higher cost, do give added performance values in most cars.

But . . . it is not true that all "premium" gasolines give the same amount of extra value for the higher price. Differences, in fact, are surprisingly great in many cases.

And . . . it is also true that Esso Extra gasoline meets the highest standard of all-round, year-round performance quality that exists!

Proof? It starts by taking these eight performance qualities which automotive engineers agree are basic in importance to a good gasoline.

1. Sheer Power; 2. High Anti-Knock; 3. Long Mileage; 4. Clean Engine Operation; 5. Quick Starting; 6. Fast Warm-Up; 7. Hot Weather Anti-Vapor-Lock; 8. Cool Weather Anti-Stalling.

Using this "yardstick" Esso Extra is tested scientifically for all these qualities against the best competing brands. And time after time in these tests Esso Extra meets the highest standard of overall year-round performance quality.

So . . . when you pay a little extra for a premium gasoline why not see your Esso Dealer? . . . why not get the most popular and largest-selling premium gasoline in the area served by Esso Dealers? . . . why not get all the extra benefits that await you all year 'round at the Esso Extra pump? That's what "Happy Motoring" really means! See your Esso Dealer today and regularly!

Esso Extra meets today's highest standard of year-round gasoline performance!

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Hold Tongue, Play And Then Talk

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

When you find yourself in a contract that you don't particularly fancy, play the hand first and make your comments later. You cannot improve the contract by discussing it promptly, and there is the danger that you will give useful information to the opponents.

When today's hand was played, South ruffed the opening club lead and then delivered himself of the opinion that his partner was a first degree panty-waist. "What sort of dynamite do I have to use to get you to a slam?" he demanded.

Sighing heavily, South prepared to play the hand safe for 10 tricks. His plan was to cash both red aces and then cross-ruff the hand so as to make eight trump tricks.

When South led the ace of diamonds at the second trick, East dropped the king of diamonds. Geoffrey Mott-Smith held the East cards, and he tried this desperate false card since it was apparent that no ordinary play would stop the game in view of South's comment.

The appearance of the king of diamonds at the second trick induced declarer to change his mind. He had intended to settle for 10 tricks, but now he saw no reason to give up a "sure" 12 tricks.

South cashed the ace of hearts, ruffed a low heart with dummy's ace of spades, and then drew four rounds of trumps, discarding two low clubs from the dummy.

South then led a low diamond from his hand and finessed dummy's nine. That was the end. Mott-Smith took the ten of diamonds and four club tricks to set the contract two!

Families Are Evacuated

New York, Sept. 2 (AP)—More than 75 families were evacuated from a six-story tenement at 811 E. 169th street, the Bronx, early today while firemen fought a two-alarm blaze in a fifth-floor apartment. There were no reports of injuries and the flames were confined to the apartment of Steve Randall. The origin of the fire, discovered at 2:15 a. m., was not determined.

What a Difference Shears Make

Adenauer, Others Reach Drive Peak

Bonn, Germany, Sept. 2 (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and 4,039 other west German candidates roared full steam in the political home stretch today as the government readied top secret plans against Red terror attacks on next Sunday's crucial elections.

Both Adenauer and his chief opponent, Socialist Erich Ollenhauer, headed their campaigns for the key Ruhr industrial section. Its vote could decide whether the west-allied chancellor's three-party government coalition beats back the strong threat of the isolationist Socialists to control Parliament's new lower house.

The huge fields of candidates is campaigning for 484 legislative seats. The voters must decide whether the majority will be filled by persons pledged to Adenauer's program to rearm Germany in alliance with the west or to the Socialist platform of going it alone between east and west.

Resigned to the certain voting defeat their relatively few cohorts in west Germany face, the Kremlin's east German satellites have poured thousands of Red agents across the winding 600-mile east-west frontier.

After nabbing some 4,500, of the Red agents, Adenauer's government said they were pledged to a terror campaign of political killings and attacks on voting booths.

The government's tough border police already were fully mobilized against the invasion, but officials said thousands were believed to have slipped through.

At least three nabbed agents told police they had been ordered to kill west German political leaders. Others said they were told to storm voting booths, destroy ballot boxes and frighten voters away from the polls.

The government kept secret its plans to combat those who had slipped through the border defenses.

The only thing that will change some people's opinion of a political candidate is to have him elected.

Army Enlistments Gain

Washington, Sept. 2 (AP)—Army enlistments in the month since the Korean truce was signed have jumped 75 per cent above the average of the 12 months prior to the truce. An army official who disclosed the enlistment figures said it was too early to tell whether the increase will continue. He said he couldn't comment on the reasons for the increase. The figures showed that 11,600 men enlisted between July 27—the date of the Korean truce—and Aug. 27. During the previous 12 months, the average enlistment was about 6,600.

Hart Begins Duties

New Haven, Conn., Sept. 2 (AP)—Luke E. Hart, St. Louis attorney widely known in the Roman Catholic hierarchy for his service with the Knights of Columbus, began his new duties in New Haven today as supreme knight of the order, founded in this city 71 years ago. Hart is the first supreme knight in nearly 50 years to conduct the affairs of the office from the national headquarters in New Haven. Others who have held the post conducted its affairs from their home cities.

Your steam iron should be emptied as quickly as possible after using, and while the iron is still hot. This will dry out any water remaining in the iron.

Catskills Have Two Poisonous Snakes Among 15 Varieties

Only two of the 15 different kinds of snakes found in this area are poisonous, according to James E. Lawrence, a former resident of Woodstock. He has recently written and published Snakes of the Catskill Mountains, a pocket Guide for identifying the reptiles of this locality.

Subtitled A Guide to Their Recognition, the booklet points out that, contrary to popular belief, the copperhead of deep woods and the timber rattlesnake of rocky ledges are the only deadly snakes in the Catskills. All others are harmless and often beneficial to man. Illustrated with photographs of every snake, the guide discusses such subjects as description, habit, behavior, and other topics necessary to help anyone readily recognize the different types of snakes on sight.

Based on Observation

A professional biologist, Lawrence bases his guide on material gathered over several years of observing and collecting snakes in this region. He writes that the booklet is intended for "the hiker, hunter, fisherman, and all others who wish to know these creatures and identify them readily in the field."

Using a new method of his own to aid quick recognition, he has designed three simple charts which point out snake features a person would normally see outdoors. These are based on the reptile's colors, markings, size, and its choice of living quarters.

Hold Tongue, Play And Then Talk

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

When you find yourself in a contract that you don't particularly fancy, play the hand first and make your comments later. You cannot improve the contract by discussing it promptly, and there is the danger that you will give useful information to the opponents.

When today's hand was played, South ruffed the opening club lead and then delivered himself of the opinion that his partner was a first degree panty-waist. "What sort of dynamite do I have to use to get you to a slam?" he demanded.

Sighing heavily, South prepared to play the hand safe for 10 tricks. His plan was to cash both red aces and then cross-ruff the hand so as to make eight trump tricks.

When South led the ace of diamonds at the second trick, East dropped the king of diamonds. Geoffrey Mott-Smith held the East cards, and he tried this desperate false card since it was apparent that no ordinary play would stop the game in view of South's comment.

The appearance of the king of diamonds at the second trick induced declarer to change his mind. He had intended to settle for 10 tricks, but now he saw no reason to give up a "sure" 12 tricks.

South cashed the ace of hearts, ruffed a low heart with dummy's ace of spades, and then drew four rounds of trumps, discarding two low clubs from the dummy.

South then led a low diamond from his hand and finessed dummy's nine. That was the end. Mott-Smith took the ten of diamonds and four club tricks to set the contract two!

Families Are Evacuated

New York, Sept. 2 (AP)—More than 75 families were evacuated from a six-story tenement at 811 E. 169th street, the Bronx, early today while firemen fought a two-alarm blaze in a fifth-floor apartment. There were no reports of injuries and the flames were confined to the apartment of Steve Randall. The origin of the fire, discovered at 2:15 a. m., was not determined.

What a Difference Shears Make

Adenauer, Others Reach Drive Peak

Bonn, Germany, Sept. 2 (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and 4,039 other west German candidates roared full steam in the political home stretch today as the government readied top secret plans against Red terror attacks on next Sunday's crucial elections.

Both Adenauer and his chief opponent, Socialist Erich Ollenhauer, headed their campaigns for the key Ruhr industrial section. Its vote could decide whether the west-allied chancellor's three-party government coalition beats back the strong threat of the isolationist Socialists to control Parliament's new lower house.

The huge fields of candidates is campaigning for 484 legislative seats. The voters must decide whether the majority will be filled by persons pledged to Adenauer's program to rearm Germany in alliance with the west or to the Socialist platform of going it alone between east and west.

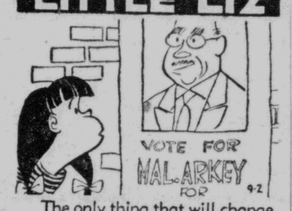
Resigned to the certain voting defeat their relatively few cohorts in west Germany face, the Kremlin's east German satellites have poured thousands of Red agents across the winding 600-mile east-west frontier.

After nabbing some 4,500, of the Red agents, Adenauer's government said they were pledged to a terror campaign of political killings and attacks on voting booths.

The government's tough border police already were fully mobilized against the invasion, but officials said thousands were believed to have slipped through.

At least three nabbed agents told police they had been ordered to kill west German political leaders. Others said they were told to storm voting booths, destroy ballot boxes and frighten voters away from the polls.

The government kept secret its plans to combat those who had slipped through the border defenses.



The only thing that will change some people's opinion of a political candidate is to have him elected.

Army Enlistments Gain

Washington, Sept. 2 (AP)—Army enlistments in the month since the Korean truce was signed have jumped 75 per cent above the average of the 12 months prior to the truce. An army official who disclosed the enlistment figures said it was too early to tell whether the increase will continue. He said he couldn't comment on the reasons for the inerease. The figures showed that 11,600 men enlisted between July 27—the date of the Korean truce—and Aug. 27. During the previous 12 months, the average enlistment was about 6,600.

Hart Begins Duties

New Haven, Conn., Sept. 2 (AP)—Luke E. Hart, St. Louis attorney widely known in the Roman Catholic hierarchy for his service with the Knights of Columbus, began his new duties in New Haven today as supreme knight of the order, founded in this city 71 years ago. Hart is the first supreme knight in nearly 50 years to conduct the affairs of the office from the national headquarters in New Haven. Others who have held the post conducted its affairs from their home cities.

Catskills Have Two Poisonous Snakes Among 15 Varieties

Only two of the 15 different kinds of snakes found in this area are poisonous, according to James E. Lawrence, a former resident of Woodstock. He has recently written and published Snakes of the Catskill Mountains, a pocket Guide for identifying the reptiles of this locality.

Subtitled A Guide to Their Recognition, the booklet points out that, contrary to popular belief, the copperhead of deep woods and the timber rattlesnake of rocky ledges are the only deadly snakes in the Catskills. All others are harmless and often beneficial to man. Illustrated with photographs of every snake, the guide discusses such subjects as description, habit, behavior, and other topics necessary to help anyone readily recognize the different types of snakes on sight.

Based on Observation

A professional biologist, Lawrence bases his guide on material gathered over several years of observing and collecting snakes in this region. He writes that the booklet is intended for "the hiker, hunter, fisherman, and all others who wish to know these creatures and identify them readily in the field."

Using a new method of his own to aid quick recognition, he has designed three simple charts which point out snake features a person would normally see outdoors. These are based on the reptile's colors, markings, size, and its choice of living quarters.

Former Tillsonite Works in Arabia As Rail Supervisor

BY H. E. HARVEY
Tillson Correspondent

Rudolf Bornemann of Tillson has returned to Dhahran, Saudi Arabia, following a vacation at home and in California since July 14. Two years ago, he flew to Arabia after having been employed by the Arabian-American Oil Company in communications on the mainline railroad owned at that time by Aramco.

At the time of the Coronation in England, the King of Arabia announced that the railroad was the property of the Arabian government, and all people working on it would, if they so desired, be employed by the government. Bornemann stayed at his job and is now an employe of the Arabian government, working in Damman City, Saudi Arabia, where he gives supervision in communication in a government sponsored training program.

The Arabian government offers good jobs to exceptional students upon graduation, on the railroad, in various phases of work, he said, among them being communications. At the present, Bornemann stated he has about 12 Arab students in his "gang of workers." This is a training-on-the-job program, similar to plans adopted by many companies in this country. The boys that work and study under Bornemann are all less than 20 years of age, and it is difficult to find an Arabian that is naturally mechanically inclined.

Must Be Taught

"Give them a screwdriver, for instance," Bornemann explained, "and they have no idea of its use, or the way to use it. They must be taught from scratch."

Damman City, where he works, is a city of about 50,000 Arabs, and according to Bornemann, going back there is "like opening the pages of the Bible and stepping back into ancient history," for they live today as they did hundreds, even thousands of years ago.

One of Bornemann's students expects to come to America in February, to study in a New York state school, his trip and schooling sponsored by the Saudi Arabia government.

Bornemann was required to learn much of the Arabian language, since he has to deal with many Arabs who know little English. At home, he found himself quite often finishing a sentence in the foreign tongue, since he has become so accustomed to expressing himself less and less in English over there.

Pay Is in Gold

Payment to government employes in Arabia is made in gold. There is no paper money issued there, and people carry their coins around in money bags or on their person.

On his trip back, Bornemann flew from New York non-stop to Amsterdam, and from there direct to Saudi Arabia, all within a few days time from home. There are about 6,000 Americans in the colony over there, all working in connection with the oil fields. The Americans work in air-conditioned offices, and become accustomed to the heat without much trouble.

"The tan I have today," Bornemann confided, "was obtained right here in Tillson and out in California, not in Saudi Arabia."

His wife and two sons, Frederick and George, spent a few weeks with him on a trip to California and back. Bornemann hopes to have his family join him in Saudi Arabia around Christmas time, but no definite plans were announced.

Children entering the public schools of the city of Kingston for the first time are required to present a certificate showing the date of birth. This certificate may be either a birth certificate, a baptismal certificate, a Bible record, or a sworn legal affidavit. The record will be returned to the parent.

Theft Is Reported

Cannes, France, Sept. 2 (AP)—French police reported today that 25 million francs ($71,400) in French and foreign currencies was stolen from the Riviera home of retired American movie producer Jack Warner during an all-night party. The police said Warner was not present. He left for Rome last week, they said, leaving his 18-year-old daughter at the villa at nearby Antibes.

Far Below Standards

Freedom Village, Korea, Sept. 2 (AP) — The first U. S. doctor freed by the Communists said today physicians behind the bamboo curtain are far below American standards. Only in the past eight months did a "competent Communist doctor" treat Americans at prison camp No. 2, for officers, said Capt. Clarence L. Anderson of Long Beach, Calif.

Bronx Aide Says

the background of the murder, Tilzer said:

"We know that there was no personal motive by Ryan or Howell, and that there was no personal enmity on the part of either against Lewis."

There was "a definite link" between Howell and Ryan, the prosecutor said, and they were seen together two or three days before the Lewis murder.

Harvey Rosen, present trouble-shooting labor relations director for Yonkers Raceway, was questioned again yesterday by Tilzer. The prosecutor quoted Rosen, former secretary of the New York city fire department, as saying he is paid $1,000 a month in the raceway job, as contrasted with the $2,000 a month that Lawrence Lynch got.

Rosen said he was "amazed" to learn that Lynch had drawn so much.

"All I can tell you," Rosen was quoted, "is that, because he was Jimmy Lynch's brother, he was given a sinecure job at the raceway."

Rosen was quoted further as saying:

That Lewis and many other people at the track did not know for some time that Lawrence Lynch was on the payroll.

That Lewis was responsible for easing out Rosen's predecessor as track trouble-shooter, Joseph Pizzo.

That Lewis reportedly was annoyed by rumors that he and Pizzo were splitting the latter's fees, which reportedly amounted to $55,000 over a 17-month period.

Authorities previously reported that Lewis had gotten the raceway management to discharge Lawrence Lynch because the fact his brother, James, was a union official might lead to charges of a union-management tieup.

Pizzo, Bronx campaign manager for Mayor Vincent R. Impellitteri in his bid for the Democratic nomination for mayor in the Sept. 15, primary, charged yesterday that Bronx officials were making the murder investigation a political football.

The Bronx and Manhattan Democratic organizations are backing Manhattan Borough President Robert F. Wagner, Jr. against Impellitteri, who has Queens, Brooklyn and Staten Island organization support.

Pizzo said that calling him in for questioning was "one of the cheapest political tricks in the annals of city politics." He called Tilzer the "hand-picked hatchet man" of Bronx Democratic leader Charley Buckley. Pizzo denied that Lewis had cost him the track job.

Tilzer, shrugging off Pizzo's charges, said the injection of politics into the murder probe was "utterly disgusting."

Tilzer's boss, District Attorney George B. De Luca, said that "it just happens" that Pizzo is a political chairman and also had dealings with Lewis.

Harold Riegelman, unopposed candidate for the Republican nomination for mayor, called yesterday for a "thorough investigation" of the New York State Harness Racing Commission in view of the raceway angles in the murder case.

Henry M. James, chairman of the commission, had announced Monday night that it would probe the employment of two ex-convicts Lawrence Lynch and Howell at the raceway.

Former Tillsonite Works in Arabia As Rail Supervisor

BY H. E. HARVEY
Tillson Correspondent

Rudolf Bornemann of Tillson has returned to Dhahran, Saudi Arabia, following a vacation at home and in California since July 14. Two years ago, he flew to Arabia after having been employed by the Arabian-American Oil Company in communications on the mainline railroad owned at that time by Aramco.

At the time of the Coronation in England, the King of Arabia announced that the railroad was the property of the Arabian government, and all people working on it would, if they so desired, be employed by the government. Bornemann stayed at his job and is now an employe of the Arabian government, working in Damman City, Saudi Arabia, where he gives supervision in communication in a government sponsored training program.

The Arabian government offers good jobs to exceptional students upon graduation, on the railroad, in various phases of work, he said, among them being communications. At the present, Bornemann stated he has about 12 Arab students in his "gang of workers." This is a training-on-the-job program, similar to plans adopted by many companies in this country. The boys that work and study under Bornemann are all less than 20 years of age, and it is difficult to find an Arabian that is naturally mechanically inclined.

Must Be Taught

"Give them a screwdriver, for instance," Bornemann explained, "and they have no idea of its use, or the way to use it. They must be taught from scratch."

Damman City, where he works, is a city of about 50,000 Arabs, and according to Bornemann, going back there is "like opening the pages of the Bible and stepping back into ancient history," for they live today as they did hundreds, even thousands of years ago.

One of Bornemann's students expects to come to America in February, to study in a New York state school, his trip and schooling sponsored by the Saudi Arabia government.

Bornemann was required to learn much of the Arabian language, since he has to deal with many Arabs who know little English. At home, he found himself quite often finishing a sentence in the foreign tongue, since he has become so accustomed to expressing himself less and less in English over there.

Pay Is in Gold

Payment to government employes in Arabia is made in gold. There is no paper money issued there, and people carry their coins around in money bags or on their person.

On his trip back, Bornemann flew from New York non-stop to Amsterdam, and from there direct to Saudi Arabia, all within a few days time from home. There are about 6,000 Americans in the colony over there, all working in connection with the oil fields. The Americans work in air-conditioned offices, and become accustomed to the heat without much trouble.

"The tan I have today," Bornemann confided, "was obtained right here in Tillson and out in California, not in Saudi Arabia."

His wife and two sons, Frederick and George, spent a few weeks with him on a trip to California and back. Bornemann hopes to have his family join him in Saudi Arabia around Christmas time, but no definite plans were announced.

Theft Is Reported

Cannes, France, Sept. 2 (AP)—French police reported today that 25 million francs ($71,400) in French and foreign currencies was stolen from the Riviera home of retired American movie producer Jack Warner during an all-night party. The police said Warner was not present. He left for Rome last week, they said, leaving his 18-year-old daughter at the villa at nearby Antibes.

Freedom Village, Korea, Sept. 2 (AP) — The first U. S. doctor freed by the Communists said today physicians behind the bamboo curtain are far below American standards. Only in the past eight months did a "competent Communist doctor" treat Americans at prison camp No. 2, for officers, said Capt. Clarence L. Anderson of Long Beach, Calif.

the background of the murder, Tilzer said:

"We know that there was no personal motive by Ryan or Howell, and that there was no personal enmity on the part of either against Lewis."

There was "a definite link" between Howell and Ryan, the prosecutor said, and they were seen together two or three days before the Lewis murder.

Harvey Rosen, present troubleshooting labor relations director for Yonkers Raceway, was questioned again yesterday by Tilzer. The prosecutor quoted Rosen, former secretary of the New York city fire department, as saying he is paid $1,000 a month in the raceway job, as contrasted with the $2,000 a month that Lawrence Lynch got.

Rosen said he was "amazed" to learn that Lynch had drawn so much.

"All I can tell you," Rosen was quoted, "is that, because he was Jimmy Lynch's brother, he was given a sinecure job at the raceway."

Rosen was quoted further as saying:

That Lewis was responsible for easing out Rosen's predecessor as track trouble-shooter, Joseph Pizzo.

That Lewis reportedly was annoyed by rumors that he and Pizzo were splitting the latter's fees, which reportedly amounted to $55,000 over a 17-month period.

Authorities previously reported that Lewis had gotten the raceway management to discharge Lawrence Lynch because the fact his brother, James, was a union official might lead to charges of a union-management tieup.

Pizzo, Bronx campaign manager for Mayor Vincent R. Impellitteri in his bid for the Democratic nomination for mayor in the Sept. 15, primary, charged yesterday that Bronx officials were making the murder investigation a political football.

The Bronx and Manhattan Democratic organizations are backing Manhattan Borough President Robert F. Wagner, Jr. against Impellitteri, who has Queens, Brooklyn and Staten Island organization support.

Pizzo said that calling him in for questioning was "one of the cheapest political tricks in the annals of city politics." He called Tilzer the "hand-picked hatchet man" of Bronx Democratic leader Charley Buckley. Pizzo denied that Lewis had cost him the track job.

Tilzer, shrugging off Pizzo's charges, said the injection of politics into the murder probe was "utterly disgusting."

Tilzer's boss, District Attorney George B. De Luca, said that "it just happens" that Pizzo is a political chairman and also had dealings with Lewis.

Harold Riegelman, unopposed candidate for the Republican nomination for mayor, called yesterday for a "thorough investigation" of the New York State Harness Racing Commission in view of the raceway angles in the murder case.

Henry M. James, chairman of the commission, had announced Monday night that it would probe the employment of two ex-convicts Lawrence Lynch and Howell at the raceway.

Forecast — Hot, Dry

Washington, Sept. 2 (AP)—The Weather Bureau has forecast hot and dry weather for the northeast part of the country during September. By contrast, the bureau said it will be cooler and wetter in the west and gulf states. However, the southwest will have less rain than usual for this time of year.

Regional Forecasts

Northern New York—Hot and humid today, scattered thunderstorms developing, high about 90. Partly cloudy and cooler tonight, low in the 60s. Thursday, considerable sunshine, not quite so hot and humid, high in the 80s. Southwest winds today turning northwest this afternoon and light winds tomorrow. Outlook for Friday, showers followed by cooler. Showers possibly beginning late Thursday or Thursday night.

Western Mohawk area, southcentral New York and southeastern New York—Hot and humid today and Thursday with widely scattered afternoon thundershowers likely. High both days in the 90s. Low tonight in the upper 60s and low 70s. Southwesterly wind 10-20. Good drying except in local thundershowers. Outlook for Friday, party cloudy with scattered showers, likely followed by cooler.

Western New York, northern Finger Lakes to Lake Ontario and east of Lake Ontario, Black river basin—Mostly fair, hot and humid today and tomorrow. Scattered thundershowers developing. High temperature today in the mid 90s, cooler near the lakes. Low tonight near 70. Westerly winds 10-20 miles per hour today becoming light variable tonight and south to south-west 10-20 miles per hour.

Disease to Be Studied

Washington, Sept. 2 (AP)—The government is undertaking a major study of the degenerative nerve disease which took the life of baseball star Lou Gehrig. The study will be made on Guam where the fatal ailment, known as amyotrophic lateral sclerosis, is believed to be highly prevalent. The Public Health Service, announcing the study yesterday, said its cause is unknown and there is no known treatment. It isn't even certain, the service added, how many people suffer from it, although most estimates are that 1,500 to 2,500 cases occur in this country yearly.

Kids Couldn't Recall

Denver, Sept. 2 (AP)—Six youngsters being questioned by police couldn't recall all the burglaries they had committed. "How do you expect us to remember?" one of them asked Detective Lester Jones. "We pulled some of those jobs when we were just little kids." The youngest of the six is nine years old. The oldest is 13. Jones said the boys pulled at least 40 different jobs in the past three years. He estimated their loot at $400 in cash and merchandise.

Says Ratio Increases

Washington, Sept. 2 (AP)—The Public Health Service said today the ratio of active graduate nurses to population in the United States has increased in every decade from 1910 through 1950, but that the rate of increase slowed after 1930. There were 55 nurses for each 100,000 people in 1910 and this ratio increased to 249 in 1950. With 374,584 active graduate nurses reported in 1950, the service said one out of every 400 people in the nation is working as a nurse.

Movie Hall of Fame

Hollywood, Sept. 2 (AP) — The movie industry is taking the first steps to honor its great in a Hall of Fame to be erected at a cost of more than two million dollars. President Jean Hersholt of the Motion Picture Relief Fund announced yesterday that the project envisions a museum offering "the only complete collection of industry properties and relics of our trade," as well as niches of honor for outstanding actors and industry leaders.

YMCA News

Many new program ideas were translated into reality in the YMCA Boy's Division this summer which may set the pace in future summer "Y" programs. Most of these activities were away from the YMCA building which is probably as it should be in the summer time. Most of these trips and tours enabled YMCA boys to become acquainted with boys from other parts of the state. The educational tours also enabled the boy "Y" members to learn more about business and industry located in Kingston.

Last month YMCA boys made a trip to Camp Vacamas in Whiteport for a softball game. The "Y" boys lost the game but got to know many boys and girls from New York city. It is hoped that in future summers the Kingston YMCA will be able to participate in many different activities with Camp Vacamas.

During the early part of this month the "Y" boys had a baseball game with Camp Alert at Kingston. They followed this game up with a return ball game at Camp Alert in Glenford. Although the "Y" boys lost both ball games they were generally tops in any swimming races that followed the games. At Camp Alert the boys again met new personalities and experienced a different type of camp life. Camp Alert is run along the lines of a military establishment and its program is modeled on a smaller scale along the lines of that found in the navy or coast guard. In this way the Bluejackets as the boy members are called are taught the virtues of right living and the discipline that is needed all through life.

Cadets Honor Tandy

As an interesting sidelight recently, YMCA General Burt Tandy was honored by the cadets of Camp Alert. He was presented with an engraved plaque by Captain Rice, camp commandant, and his Bluejackets in appreciation of his cooperation with the camp during the past 11 years. Captain Rice referred to Tandy's leaving the local "Y" in October and their desire to leave a fitting memento from the camp before closing the season.

Captain Rice has been working with his boys in Glenford for 12 or more years. It is a part of his all-year program for boys in New York. He was a volunteer worker with youth at the "Y" in Greenwich when Tandy was serving there.

Trips Are Held

Of the educational tours conducted by the YMCA Boy's Division this summer the outstanding ones were a tour of the New York Central Railroad's roundhouse in Kingston. This tour also included an examination of other railroad equipment and facilities. How to operate railroad signals and switches was explained to the boys and they also were given a chance to try their hand at it. As a grand climax the boys were given a ride on the yard's diesel engines.

The trip through the Universal Road Machinery Corporation of Kingston was the first of its kind. Until this trip there had never been a YMCA boy's trip through a local industry of Kingston. For this trip boy members were chosen by their interest in mechanics and industry. All boys gained knowledge of the basic techniques and machines used in manufacturing. The boys who went on this tour also were impressed by the tremendous weight the companies hoists could lift.

There also were other YMCA trips for the boy members which were taken for swimming and other athletic activities. There also was a trip for boys on a Hudson River Dayliner boat up the Hudson river which had never been done before and which created excitement among the boys who took this trip. The last trip was a trip to the Rhinebeck Fair which is always made by the "Y" and which closes the "Y" trips for the summer.

Other YMCA summer activities naturally placed emphasis upon the "Y"'s swimming program which was quite successful this summer in teaching over 100 boys and girls how to swim and how to improve upon their swimming ability.

By Labor Day the YMCA summer program will come to a finish and the regular program will start.

The answers to everyday insurance problems
By HERMAN J. EATON

QUESTION: Is there any accurate way of deciding whether you should insure against a certain type of loss?
ANSWER: A good test is to ask yourself if you could afford the maximum possible loss from a certain risk. If that maximum loss could deal your finances a crippling blow, better insure. If the loss would only be a serious inconvenience, use your own judgment.
• If you'll address your own insurance questions to this office we'll try to give you the correct answers and there will be NO CHARGE OR OBLIGATION OF ANY KIND.

The answers to everyday insurance problems
By HERMAN J. EATON

QUESTION: Is there any accurate way of deciding whether you should insure against a certain type of loss?

ANSWER: A good test is to ask yourself if you could afford the maximum possible loss from a certain risk. If that maximum loss could deal your finances a crippling blow, better insure. If the loss would only be a serious inconvenience, use your own judgment.

• If you'll address your own insurance questions to this office we'll try to give you the correct answers and there will be NO CHARGE OR OBLIGATION OF ANY KIND.
